Bill Summary

(Note: This summary applies to this bill as introduced and does not reflect any amendments that may be subsequently adopted. If this bill passes third reading in the house of introduction, a bill summary that applies to the reengrossed version of this bill will be available at <http://www.leg.state.co.us/billsummaries>.)

If a child was conceived as a result of an act that led to the parent's conviction for sexual assault or a conviction in which the underlying factual basis was sexual assault, the parent who is the victim of the sexual assault (victim) may file a petition in juvenile court to prevent future contact with the parent who committed the sexual assault and to terminate the parent-child legal relationship of that parent. The court shall terminate the parent-child legal relationship if the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that:

- ! The parent was convicted of an act of sexual assault against the victim or convicted of a crime in which the underlying factual basis was sexual assault against the victim;
- ! The child was conceived as a result of that sexual assault or crime; and
- ! Termination of the parent-child legal relationship is in the best interests of the child.

The bill creates a rebuttable presumption that terminating the parental rights of the parent who committed the act of sexual assault or crime is in the best interests of the child.

After a petition has been filed, the court may appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the child's best interests in the proceeding.

The victim shall not be required to appear in the presence of the other parent, and the victim's and the child's whereabouts shall be kept confidential.

A person whose parental rights are terminated under the bill has:

- ! No right to allocation of parental responsibilities for the child, including any right to parenting time or decision-making;
- ! No right to inheritance from the child; and
- ! No right to notice of, or standing to object to, the adoption of the child.

A person whose parental rights are terminated is not relieved of any obligation to pay child support unless waived by the victim. In such cases, the court shall order the payments to be made through the child support registry or a court escrow to avoid the need for any contact between the parties.

The victim shall be entitled, upon request, to a no-contact protection order issued against the person whose parental rights are terminated that prohibits the person from having any contact with either the victim or the child.

Termination of the parent-child legal relationship pursuant to the bill is an independent basis for termination of parental rights, and the court need not make any of the considerations or findings described in other statutes for termination of the parent-child legal relationship. The bill also states that nothing in the bill prohibits the termination of parental rights by the court using other grounds under the "Colorado Children's Code" in cases that do not meet the criteria set forth in the bill.

Amends the criminal statutes on sexual assault, unlawful sexual contact, sexual assault on a child by one in a position of trust, and sexual assault on a client by a psychotherapist to specify the loss of rights under the bill.

A task force on children conceived by rape is created to study and make recommendations for protecting rape victims and for addressing parental rights in cases in which there are allegations that a sexual assault has occurred, a conviction of or prosecution for sexual assault has not occurred, and a child has been conceived as a result of the alleged sexual assault. The bill specifies the membership of the task force, what it should study, and the time frame for the task force to report to certain legislative committees of the general assembly. The statutory authority for the task force repeals January 1, 2014.

The portions of the bill that allow the court to terminate parental rights and that make conforming amendments to the criminal law statutes on sexual assault apply to acts or offenses committed on or after July 1, 2013.
