8 ESTABLISHING THE INTERIM STUDY COMMISSION ON 9 MECHANICS LIEN.

10
11 WHEREAS, Alabama's current mechanics' and 12 materialmen's lien statutes were adopted in the late 1800's and 13 have remained substantially unchanged except for an amendment 14 in 1933 and an amendment in 1990; and

15 WHEREAS, current law provides a right to assert a 16 mechanics' or materialmen's lien upon the commencement of work 17 or delivery of materials to the real property on which 18 improvements are being made; and

19 WHEREAS, improvements can come in many forms,
20 including providing supplies, labor, waste removal,
21 architectural services, engineering services, and other acts 22 or labor that adds value to the property; and

23 WHEREAS, current law provides that a mechanics' lien
24 as to land and buildings or improvements on the land or 25 buildings shall have priority over all other liens, 26 conveyances and incumbrances created subsequent to the 27 commencement of work, the right to such a lien arising before

1 record notice of any such right is required under current law;
2 and

3 WHEREAS, current law exposes unsuspecting or 4 innocent parties, including, but not limited to, contractors, 5 subcontractors, suppliers of material and others providing 6 work or materials, as well as subsequent purchasers and 7 lenders, to unforeseen losses as a result of the right to the 8 lien arising at the time work commences or materials delivered
9 without any accompanying requirement to record in the real
10 property records notice that work has commenced, leaving 11 unresolved issues of priority; and

12 WHEREAS, Alabama has experienced substantial growth
13 in the construction of commercial and residential buildings in 14 the one hundred-plus years since the mechanics' and 15 materialmen's lien statute was first adopted and in the 16 decades since it was last amended; and

17 WHEREAS, the commercial and residential construction
18 industries have experienced substantial growth in the one
19 hundred-plus years since the mechanics' and materialmen's lien
20 statute was first adopted and in the decades since it was last 21 amended and current law has not kept up with the growth; and

22 WHEREAS, it is prudent that an Interim Study
23 Commission on Mechanics' and Materialmen's Lien Law be formed 24 for the purpose of developing a comprehensive overhaul to the 25 current mechanics' and materialmen's lien law in this state;
26 now therefore,
