complaint and, if such request is timely submitted, has 15 business days from the date of the notice to file an addendum to the relevant report that cures any such deficiencies.

Where the committee or party treasurer files an addendum that cures all deficiencies alleged in the complaint before the expiration of the 15-day period specified in the bill, the bill prohibits the appropriate officer from assessing a penalty against the committee or treasurer that otherwise would have been assessed for the for the deficiencies for the period from the first date of the alleged violation through the expiration of the cure period. Upon filing an addendum to the relevant report by the committee or party treasurer that cures all such deficiencies, the appropriate officer is required to set a hearing to determine whether all issues raised by the complaint have been resolved. If the committee or party treasurer fails to cure any such discrepancy, any penalty imposed for such deficiency continues to accrue until further resolution of the matter.

The bill's requirements only apply in the case of a good faith effort by a committee or party treasurer, as applicable, to make timely disclosure or where the disclosure report is in substantial compliance with governing legal requirements.
