If this bill passes third reading in the house of introduction, a bill summary that applies to the reengrossed version of this bill will be available at <http://www.leg.state.co.us/billsummaries>.)*

When the income tax credits for new business facility employees were originally created under the "Urban and Rural Enterprise Zone Act", the intent was to prevent existing businesses that would become part of an enterprise zone from benefiting from this program. To accomplish this,

HOUSE
Amended 2nd Reading
April 1, 2013

the "new business facility" language was added. The "new business facility" language requires that businesses that existed in a distressed area prior to the enterprise program would qualify as a "new business facility" by expanding at their existing location in the enterprise zone or by expanding at a replacement facility in the enterprise zone and meeting one of 6 criteria.

Currently, most businesses that existed and are still operating in their location prior to the enterprise zone program taking effect have met at least one of the 6 criteria to qualify as a new business facility.

The bill ends the new business facility employees income tax credit and creates a new income tax credit for business facility employees. The credit remains the same but does not include the requirements to meet the definition of a "new business facility".
