assistance fund (fund) the first $40 million collected from the excise tax on retail marijuana.

If the governor declares a disaster emergency in any area of the state, the bill requires the division of public school capital construction assistance (division) created in the department of education to contact each affected school facility in any area of the state in which the governor declared the disaster emergency to assess any facility needs resulting from the declared disaster emergency. The division must report its findings to the capital construction assistance board (board) as soon as possible following the outreach.

An entity that operates a public school facility that is located in an area of the state in which the governor declared a disaster emergency and that experienced a public school facility emergency as a result of the disaster emergency may apply to the board for emergency financial assistance from the fund in the manner currently specified in law. In determining whether to recommend to the state board of education that emergency financial assistance be provided, the board must consider the outreach assessment prepared by the division. The board must waive the matching moneys requirement for any recipient of emergency financial assistance in an area of a declared disaster emergency.

The board may prioritize up to a certain percentage of the moneys in the fund that have been transferred to the fund from the excise tax on retail marijuana for the then-current fiscal year to provide emergency financial assistance to public school facilities that have been damaged as a result of a declared disaster emergency.
