A commission on judicial discipline (commission) is established in current law pursuant to section 23 (3) of article VI of the state constitution. The bill implements the commission by:

judicial discipline (office) as an independent office within the judicial department;

- Authorizing the commission to appoint an executive director of the office and specifying the duties of the executive director;
- Authorizing the commission to appoint and determine the duties of special counsel, which may include representing the people in formal proceedings;
- Establishing immunity for commissioners;
- Specifying when information should be shared among offices within the judicial department responsible for reviewing actions of current and potential judges and justices;
- Specifying duties of personnel within the judicial department when they become aware of potential issues of judicial discipline; and
- Establishing a special cash fund and specifying sources of money for the fund and uses of the money in the fund.

For rules, guidelines, and procedures relating to judicial discipline adopted by the supreme court, the bill requires the supreme court to:

- Provide the commission with notice and an opportunity to object and, if the commission objects, to engage with the commission in good-faith efforts to resolve differences; and
- Post notice of each rule, guideline, or procedure and allow for public comment, including an opportunity for the public to address the supreme court.

The bill creates the legislative interim committee on judicial discipline to study Colorado's system of judicial discipline and make recommendations for necessary changes to that system.

The bill clarifies that the disclosure of materials and information to the state auditor pursuant to an investigation based on an allegation of fraud by an employee or contracted individual does not cause the materials and information to lose their status as privileged or confidential based solely upon such disclosure.

1 Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

2 SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly
3 finds and declares that:

4 (a) An independent, fair, competent, and impartial judiciary is 5 indispensable to our system of justice. A judiciary composed of persons

1 committed to the highest levels of integrity and who hold office as a 2 public trust is essential to maintaining public confidence in the legal 3 system.

4 (b) In order to maintain public confidence in the legal system; to 5 protect the public from judicial conduct that is improper, illegal, or 6 unethical; to ensure judicial conduct is not tainted by bias, prejudice, or 7 illegal discrimination; to avoid impropriety or the appearance of 8 impropriety; and to ensure the preservation of the principles of justice and 9 the rule of law, a commission on judicial discipline is needed that is 10 financially and functionally independent from the judicial department and 11 empowered to fairly and expeditiously address complaints about judicial 12 conduct;

13 (c) Public confidence in the judicial department has been 14 significantly undermined over the past two and one-half years by media 15 reports describing alleged misconduct and improprieties in the judicial 16 department resulting in multiple resignations of senior judicial department 17 leaders and the commencement of six investigations by the judicial 18 discipline commission, the Colorado state auditor, the office of attorney 19 regulation counsel, the federal bureau of investigation, and two 20 investigations by outside counsel commissioned by the judicial 21 department;

22 (d) To credibly investigate and address allegations of judicial 23 misconduct and thereby fulfill the requirement of accountability, it is 24 important to establish a commission on judicial discipline that is 25 independent from the judges and justices who are subject to the 26 commission's oversight. Colorado's constitution, code of judicial conduct, 27 and rules of judicial discipline do not now provide a fair and impartial

1 system of judicial discipline because the judges overseeing discipline of 2 other judges decide the rules to be applied, determine evidence to be 3 considered, rule on appeals, and allocate funds to the disciplinary 4 commission.

5 (e) The credibility of Colorado's judiciary is best served by a 6 system of judicial discipline that is overseen by an independent 7 commission on judicial discipline that includes perspectives from the 8 community, the bar, and the judiciary, rather than being ultimately 9 controlled by the judiciary. This design will achieve independent 10 oversight while also being informed by the perspective of the judiciary.

11 (f) Within the constitutional limitations on confidentiality, the 12 work of the commission on judicial discipline should be as transparent as 13 possible;

14 (g) To effectively perform its constitutional function, the 15 commission on judicial discipline needs unfettered access to all 16 information and documents available to the state judicial department that 17 are relevant to any allegation or investigation of judicial misconduct or 18 judicial disability; and

19 (h) The efficacy of the commission on judicial discipline also 20 depends upon the existence of conflict-free, secure, stable, and defined 21 funding that allows the commission to maintain independence and 22 respond to disciplinary issues without delay and without being subject to 23 improper influence exercised by those being overseen.

24 (2) To restore public confidence in the judiciary and achieve the 25 goal of an independent commission on judicial discipline, the general 26 assembly hereby adopts and enacts the provisions set forth in this act and 27 establishes a an interim legislative committee to work with judges,

1 lawyers, members of the public, and other interested parties to meet to 2 review and examine the facts, evaluate other states' models of judicial 3 discipline, and make recommendations to the general assembly for 4 statutory or constitutional reforms during the 2023 session.
