A CEREMONIAL RESOLUTION

24-100

IN THE COUNCIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

November 2, 2021

To posthumously honor and remember Allen Y. Lew for his tremendous contributions to the District of Columbia.

WHEREAS, Allen Y. Lew began his Washington, D.C. career in 1996, serving as the Managing Director of the Washington Convention Center Authority, where he oversaw the planning, development and construction of the award-winning, $850 million Washington Convention Center, which was completed on-time and on-budget while achieving 46% CBE participation and implementing innovative labor practices and job training programs;

WHEREAS, Allen Y. Lew, as Chief Executive Officer of the District of Columbia Sports and Entertainment Commission from 2004 to 2007, managed the renovation and operation of the historic Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium for Major League Baseball use while maintaining use for D.C. United soccer, and also managed the planning, site selection, development, and construction of the new $650 million Washington Nationals Ballpark, the first LEED-certified stadium in the country, which was built in 22 ½ months within legislative budget limits with a project labor agreement and 52% CBE participation;

WHEREAS, Allen Y. Lew was recruited to become the Executive Director of the District of Columbia Office of Public Education Facilities Modernization, where he oversaw some $3.5 billion of construction, renovation, and stabilization work on District of Columbia Public Schools buildings and facilities, bringing many long-neglected facilities up to 21st Century standards, with many of those school projects having been hailed as examples of urban academic architecture and garnered awards for design innovation, construction excellence and environmental sustainability;

WHEREAS, Allen Y. Lew was appointed City Administrator by Mayor Vincent C. Gray and managed a nearly $10 billion per year DC Government operations budget and over $7 billion of capital initiatives such as a major flood control project, the beginnings of a new streetcar system, and undergrounding electric power lines to improve power reliability; directly oversaw agencies responsible for labor and collective bargaining, environment, public works, transportation, contracts and procurement, human resources, technology, facilities management, capital construction, and economic development; interfaced with a variety of stakeholders,
