57 support amount to the custodial parent or the nonparent custodian on a monthly basis.

58 (11.1) 'Future uninsured healthcare expenses' means a child's uninsured medical 83 Section 19-7-2.

84 (17) 'Parenting time adjustment' means an adjustment reducing the basic child support 85 obligation amount owed by the noncustodial parent to account for expenses incurred 86 during that parent's court ordered parenting time deviation' means a deviation allowed for 87 the noncustodial parent based upon the noncustodial parent's court ordered visitation with 88 the child. For further reference see subsections subsection (g) and (i) of this Code 89 section.

90 (17.1) 'Parenting time unit of measurement' means the unit of measurement used to 91 determine the amount of time each parent has with the child for purposes of calculating 92 the parenting time adjustment. Parenting time shall be determined by calculating the 93 number of days a parent spends with a child in a two-year period for an annual average.

94 (A) For the purposes of this Code section, 'days' means:

95 (i) The total number of overnights a parent spends with the child; or

96 (ii) In circumstances where a parent has shorter but regular and recurring daytime 97 periods with a child, the total hours of parenting time in the annual average divided

100 support to either the child's other parent or a nonparent custodian. Typically, but not 101 always, the payer is the same parent who is the noncustodial parent as defined in 102 paragraph (14) of subsection (a) of this Code Section. If, after completing all the 103 applicable schedules of the child support worksheet, the noncustodial parent's child 104 support obligation is a positive number, the noncustodial parent is the payer. If, after 105 completing all the applicable schedules of the child support worksheet, the noncustodial 106 parent's child support obligation is a negative number, then the negative number becomes 107 its positive equivalent and the custodial parent is the payer. For further reference, see 108 paragraph (9) of subsection (b) of this Code section.

109 (18) 'Preexisting order' means:

110 (A) An order in another case that requires a parent to make child support payments for 111 another child, which child support the parent is actually paying, as evidenced by 112 documentation as provided in division (f)(5)(B)(iii) of this Code section; and 114 such other case is earlier than the date and time of filing with the clerk of court of the 116 in any of the cases.

117 (19) 'Presumptive amount of child support' means the basic child support obligation 118 including health insurance and work related child care costs.

119 (20) 'Qualified child' or 'qualified children' means any child:

126 parent has no legal obligation to support.

127 (21) 'Split parenting' ~~can occur~~ only occurs in a child support case ~~only~~ if there are two 128 or more children of the same parents, when one parent is the custodial parent for at least 129 one ~~child~~ of the children of the parents, and the other parent is the custodial parent for at 130 least one of the other child of the parents children. In a split parenting case, there shall 131 be a separate worksheet for each custodial parent. For further reference, see subsection 132 (l) of this Code section. ~~In a split parenting case, each parent is the custodial parent of~~ 133 ~~any child spending more than 50 percent of the time with that parent and is the~~ 134 ~~noncustodial parent of any child spending more than 50 percent of the time with the other~~
135 ~~parent. A split parenting situation shall have two custodial parents and two noncustodial~~ 136 ~~parents, but no child shall have more than one custodial parent or noncustodial parent.~~

137 (22) 'Theoretical child support order' means a hypothetical child support order for 138 qualified children as calculated in subparagraph (f)(5)(C) of this Code section which 139 allows the court to determine the amount of child support as if a child support order 140 existed.

141 ~~(23) 'Uninsured health care expenses' means a child's uninsured medical expenses~~ 142 ~~including, but not limited to, health insurance copayments, deductibles, and such other~~ 143 ~~costs as are reasonably necessary for orthodontia, dental treatment, asthma treatments,~~ 144 ~~physical therapy, vision care, and any acute or chronic medical or health problem or~~ 145 ~~mental health illness, including counseling and other medical or mental health expenses,~~
146 ~~that are not covered by insurance. For further reference see paragraph (3) of subsection~~ 147 ~~(h) of this Code section.~~

148 ~~(24)~~(23) 'Work related child care costs' means expenses for the care of the child for 149 whom support is being determined which are due to employment of either parent. In an

150 appropriate case, the court may consider the child care costs associated with a parent's job 151 search or the training or education of a parent necessary to obtain a job or enhance 152 earning potential, not to exceed a reasonable time as determined by the court, if the parent 153 proves by a preponderance of the evidence that the job search, job training, or education 154 will benefit the child being supported. The term shall be projected for the next 155 consecutive 12 months and averaged to obtain a monthly amount. For further reference, 156 see paragraph (1) of subsection (h) of this Code section.

157 ~~(25)~~(24) 'Worksheet' or 'child support worksheet' means the document used to record 158 information necessary to determine and calculate monthly child support. For further 159 reference see subsection (m) of this Code section.

160 (a.1)(1) As used in this chapter, the term 'child' means child or children, including any 161 unborn child with a detectable human heartbeat as such terms are defined in Code 162 Section 1-2-1.

163 (2) Notwithstanding any provision of this Code section to the contrary, the maximum 164 amount of support which the court may impose on the father of an unborn child under this 165 Code section shall be the amount of direct medical and pregnancy related expenses of the 166 mother of the unborn child. After birth, the provisions of this Code section shall apply 167 in full.

168 (b) Process of calculating child support. Pursuant to this Code section, the 169 determination of monthly child support shall be calculated as follows:

170 (1) Determine the monthly gross income of both the custodial parent and the 171 noncustodial parent pursuant to subsection (f) of this Code section. ~~Gross income may~~ 172 ~~include imputed income, if applicable.~~ The determination of monthly gross income shall 173 be entered on the Child Support Schedule A – Gross Income;

174 (2) Adjust each parent's monthly gross income by deducting the following from the 175 parents' monthly gross income and entering it on the Child Support Schedule 176 B – Adjusted Income if any of the following apply:

- 177 (A) One-half of the amount of self-employment taxes;
- 178 (B) Preexisting orders; and
- 179 (C) Theoretical child support order for qualified children, if allowed by the court;
- 180 (3) Add each parent's adjusted gross income together;
- 181 (4) Locate the basic child support obligation by referring to the basic child support
- 182 obligation table. ~~Using~~ Locate the figure closest to the amount of the parents' combined
- 183 adjusted gross income, ~~locate the amount of the basic child support obligation as found~~
- 184 in the left-most column of the table and then locate the number of children for whom
- 185 support is being determined in the top row. Locate where such column and such row
- 186 intersect to identify the basic child support obligation amount. If the parents' combined
- 187 adjusted gross income falls between the amounts shown in the table, then the basic child
- 188 support obligation shall be based on the income bracket most closely matched to the
- 189 parents' combined adjusted gross income. The basic child support obligation amount
- 190 stated determined using this process and the basic child support obligation table located
- 191 in subsection (o) of this Code section shall be rebuttably presumed to be the appropriate
- 192 amount of child support to be provided by the custodial parent and the noncustodial
- 193 parent prior to consideration of health insurance, work related child care costs, and
- 194 deviations;
- 195 (5) Calculate the pro rata share of the basic child support obligation for the custodial
- 196 parent and the noncustodial parent by dividing the combined adjusted gross income into
- 197 each parent's adjusted gross income to arrive at each parent's pro rata percentage of the
- 198 basic child support obligation;
- 199 (5.1) Adjust the noncustodial parent's share of the basic child support obligation amount
- 200 to account for such parent's expenses incurred during his or her court ordered parenting
- 201 time by following the steps in subsection (g) of this Code section, and the determination
- 202 of the parenting time adjustment shall be entered on the Child Support Schedule
- 203 C – Parenting Time Adjustment;

204 ~~(6) Find the adjusted child support obligation amount~~ the presumptive amount of child 205 support by adding the additional expenses of ~~the costs of~~ health insurance premiums for 206 the child and work related child care costs, ~~prorating such expenses in accordance with~~ 207 ~~each parent's pro rata share of the obligation and adding such expenses to the pro rata~~
208 ~~share of the basic child support obligation. The monthly cost of health insurance~~ 209 ~~premiums and work related child care costs shall be entered on the Child Support~~
210 ~~Schedule D – Additional Expenses. The pro rata share of the monthly basic child support~~ 211 ~~obligation and the pro rata share of the combined additional expenses shall be added~~ 212 ~~together to create the monthly adjusted child support obligation~~ following the steps in 213 subsection (h) of this Code section, and the determination of the presumptive amount of 214 child support shall be entered on the Child Support Schedule D – Additional Expenses;
215 (7) ~~Determine the amount of child support for the custodial parent and the noncustodial~~ 216 ~~parent resulting in a monthly sum certain payment due to the custodial parent by~~ 217 ~~assigning or deducting credit for actual payments for health insurance and work related~~ 218 ~~child care costs from the basic child support obligation;~~ 219 (8) ~~In accordance with subsection (i) of this Code section, deviations subtracted from or~~ 220 ~~added to the presumptive amount of child support shall be applied, if applicable, and if~~ 221 ~~supported by the required findings of fact and application of the best interest of the child~~
222 ~~standard. The proposed deviations shall be entered on the Child Support Schedule E –~~ 223 ~~Deviations:~~ Account for deviations, if applicable, as supported by the required findings 224 of fact, and apply the best interest of the child standard by following the steps in 225 subsection (i); the determination of any such deviation shall be entered on the Child 226 Support Schedule E – Deviations. In the court's or the jury's discretion, deviations may 227 include, but shall not be limited to, the following:
228 (A) High income;
229 (B) Low income;
230 ~~(C)~~(B) Other health related insurance;

231 ~~(D)~~(C) Life insurance;
 232 ~~(E)~~(D) Child and dependent care tax credit;
 233 ~~(F)~~(E) Travel expenses;
 234 ~~(G)~~(F) Alimony;
 235 ~~(H)~~(G) Mortgage;
 236 ~~(I)~~(H) Permanency plan or foster care plan; 237 ~~(J)~~(I) Extraordinary expenses; and 238 ~~(K)~~ Parenting time; and 239 ~~(L)~~(J) Nonspecific deviations; 240 (8) Make a low-income adjustment, if applicable, to the parent's presumptive amount of 241 child support as changed by deviations, if applicable, by following the steps in subsection 242 (i.1) of this Code section. The Georgia Child Support Calculator will automatically 243 perform this function.
 244 (9)(A) If the noncustodial parent's child support obligation is shown as a positive 245 amount, then the noncustodial parent is the payer of child support; 246 (B) If the noncustodial parent's child support obligation is shown as a negative amount, 247 then the custodial parent is the payer of child support. The child support amount owed 248 from the custodial parent (payer) to the noncustodial parent is the positive equivalent 249 of the negative amount, and this will be the amount to be paid to the noncustodial 250 parent by the custodial parent.
 251 ~~(9)~~(10) Any benefits which the child receives under Title II of the federal Social Security 252 Act or from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs due to the noncustodial parent's 253 disability shall be applied against the noncustodial parent's final child support amount.
 254 The final child support amount for each parent shall be entered on the child support 255 worksheet, together with the information from each of the utilized schedules;
 256 ~~(10)~~(11) The parents shall allocate the future uninsured ~~health care~~ healthcare expenses 257 which shall be based on the pro rata responsibility of the parents or as otherwise ordered

258 by the court. Each parent's pro rata responsibility for future uninsured ~~health care~~ 259 healthcare expenses shall be entered on the child support worksheet; and

260 ~~(11) In a split parenting case, there shall be a separate calculation and final order for each~~ 261 ~~parent; and~~

262 (12) When there is more than one child for whom support is being determined, the court 263 shall establish the amount of support and the duration of such support in accordance with 264 subsection (e) of this Code section. When, within two years of a final order being 265 entered, there is a likelihood that a child will become ineligible to receive support, the 266 court may allow for the use of separate worksheets. Separate worksheets shall show the 267 final child support amount to be paid for all such children and the adjusted amount of 268 support to be paid as each child becomes ineligible to receive support during such 269 two-year period. Such worksheets shall be attached to the final order. Such order shall 270 contain findings as required by law. A final order entered pursuant to this paragraph shall 271 not preclude a petition for modification.

272 (c) Applicability and required findings.

273 (1) The child support guidelines contained in this Code section are a minimum basis for 274 determining the amount of child support and shall apply as a rebuttable presumption in 275 all legal proceedings involving the child support responsibility of a parent. This Code 276 section shall be used when the court enters a temporary or permanent child support order 277 in a contested or noncontested hearing or order in a civil action filed pursuant to Code 278 Section 19-13-4. The rebuttable presumptive amount of child support provided by this 279 Code section may be increased or decreased according to the best interest of the child for 280 whom support is being considered, the circumstances of the parties, the grounds for 281 deviation set forth in subsection (i) of this Code section, and to achieve the state policy 282 of affording to children of unmarried parents, to the extent possible, the same economic 283 standard of living enjoyed by children living in intact families consisting of parents with 284 similar financial means.

285 (2) The provisions of this Code section shall not apply with respect to any divorce case 286 in which there are no minor children, except to the limited extent authorized by 287 subsection (e) of this Code section. In the final judgment or decree in a divorce case in 288 which there are minor children, or in other cases which are governed by the provisions 289 of this Code section, the court shall:

290 (A) Specify in what sum certain amount, the duration of such support, and from which 291 parent the child is entitled to permanent support as determined by use of the worksheet 292 or multiple worksheets when ~~there is more than one minor child~~ paragraph (12) of 293 subsection (b) of this Code section applies;

294 (B) Specify in what manner, how often, to whom, and until when the support shall be 295 paid;

296 (C) Include a written finding of each parent's gross income as determined by the court 297 or the jury;

298 (D) Determine whether health insurance for the child involved is reasonably available 299 at a reasonable cost to either parent. If the health insurance is reasonably available at 300 a reasonable cost to the parent, then the court shall order that the child be covered under 301 such health insurance;

302 (E) Include written findings of fact as to whether one or more of the deviations allowed 303 under this Code section are applicable, and if one or more such deviations are 304 applicable as determined by the court or the jury, the written findings of fact shall 305 further set forth:

306 (i) The reasons the court or the jury deviated from the presumptive amount of child 307 support;

308 (ii) The amount of child support that would have been required under this Code 309 section if the presumptive amount of child support had not been rebutted; and

310 (iii) A finding that states how the court's or the jury's application of the child support 311 guidelines would be unjust or inappropriate considering the relative ability of each

312 parent to provide support and how the best interest of the child who is subject to the 313 child support determination is served by deviation from the presumptive amount of 314 child support;

315 (F) Specify the amount of the noncustodial parent's court ordered parenting time ~~as set~~ 316 ~~forth in the order of visitation~~;

317 (G) If any credit is given to the noncustodial parent as provided in paragraphs (3) 318 and (3.1) of subsection (f) of this Code section, include ~~Include~~ a written finding 319 regarding the use of benefits received under Title II of the federal Social Security Act
320 and the use of benefits received under the United States Department of Veterans Affairs 321 Disability in the calculation of the amount of child support; and

322 (H) Specify the percentage of future uninsured ~~health-care~~ healthcare expenses for 323 which each parent shall be responsible.

324 (3) When child support is ordered, the party who is required to pay the child support 325 shall not be liable to third persons for necessities furnished to the child embraced in the 326 judgment or decree.

327 (4) In all cases, the parties shall submit to the court their worksheets and schedules and 328 the presence or absence of other factors to be considered by the court or the jury pursuant 329 to the provisions of this Code section.

330 (5) In any case in which the gross income of the custodial parent and the noncustodial
331 parent is determined by a jury, the court shall charge the provisions of this Code section 332 applicable to the determination of gross income. The jury shall be required to return a 333 special interrogatory determining gross income. The court shall determine adjusted gross 334 income, health insurance costs, and work related child care costs. Based upon the jury's 335 verdict as to gross income, the court shall determine the presumptive amount of child 336 support in accordance with the provisions of this Code section. The court shall inform 337 the jury of the presumptive amount of child support and the identity of the custodial and 338 noncustodial parents. In the final instructions to the jury, the court shall charge the 339 provisions of this Code section applicable to the determination of deviations and the jury 340 shall be required to return a special interrogatory as to deviations and the final award of 341 child support. The court shall include its findings and the jury's verdict on the child 342 support worksheet in accordance with this Code section and Code Section 19-5-12.

343 (6) Nothing contained within this Code section shall prevent the parties from entering 344 into an enforceable agreement contrary to the presumptive amount of child support which 345 may be made the order of the court pursuant to review by the court of the adequacy of the 346 child support amounts negotiated by the parties, including the provision for medical 347 expenses and health insurance; provided, however, that if the agreement negotiated by 348 the parties does not comply with the provisions contained in this Code section and does 349 not contain findings of fact as required to support a deviation, the court shall reject such 350 agreement.

351 (7) In any case filed pursuant to Chapter 11 of this title, relating to the 'Child Support
352 Recovery Act,' the 'Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act,' or the 'Uniform 353 Interstate Family Support Act,' the court shall make all determinations of fact, including 354 gross income and deviations, and a jury shall not hear any issue related to such cases.

355 (d) Nature of guidelines; court's discretion. In the event of a hearing or trial on the issue 356 of child support, the guidelines enumerated in this Code section are intended by the 357 General Assembly to be guidelines only and any court so applying such guidelines shall 358 not abrogate its responsibility in making the final determination of child support based on 359 the evidence presented to it at the time of the hearing or trial. A court's final determination 360 of child support shall take into account the ~~obligor's~~ noncustodial parent's earnings, income, 361 and other evidence of the ~~obligor's~~ noncustodial parent's ability to pay. The court or the 362 jury shall also consider the basic subsistence needs of the parents and the child for whom 363 support is to be provided.

364 (e) Duration of child support responsibility. The duty to provide support for a minor 365 child shall continue until the child reaches the age of majority, dies, marries, or becomes

366 emancipated, whichever first occurs; provided, however, that, in any temporary, final, or 367 modified order for child support with respect to any proceeding for divorce, separate 368 maintenance, legitimacy, or paternity entered on or after July 1, 1992, the court, in the 369 exercise of sound discretion, may direct either or both parents to provide financial 370 assistance to a child who has not previously married or become emancipated, who is 371 enrolled in and attending a secondary school, and who has attained the age of majority 372 before completing his or her secondary school education, provided that such financial 373 assistance shall not be required after a child attains 20 years of age. The provisions for 374 child support provided in this subsection may be enforced by either parent, by any 375 nonparent custodian, by a guardian appointed to receive child support for the child for 376 whose benefit the child support is ordered, or by the child for whose benefit the child 377 support is ordered.

378 (f) Gross income.

379 (1) Inclusion to gross income.

380 (A) Attributable income. Gross income of each parent shall be determined in the 381 process of setting the presumptive amount of child support and shall include all income 382 from any source, before deductions for taxes and other deductions such as preexisting 383 orders for child support and credits for other qualified children, whether earned or 384 unearned, and includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- 385 (i) Salaries;
- 386 (ii) Commissions, fees, and tips;
- 387 (iii) Income from self-employment;
- 388 (iv) Bonuses;
- 389 (v) Overtime payments;
- 390 (vi) Severance pay;

- 391 (vii) Recurring income from pensions or retirement plans, including, but not limited 392 to, United States Department of Veterans Affairs, Railroad Retirement Board, 393 Keoghs, and individual retirement accounts;
- 394 (viii) Interest income;
- 395 (ix) Dividend income;
- 396 (x) Trust income;
- 397 (xi) Income from annuities;
- 398 (xii) Capital gains;
- 399 (xiii) Disability or retirement benefits that are received from the Social Security 400 Administration pursuant to Title II of the federal Social Security Act;
- 401 (xiv) Disability benefits that are received pursuant to the federal Veterans' Benefits 402 Act of 2010, 38 U.S.C. Section 101, et seq.;
- 403 (xv) Workers' compensation benefits, whether temporary or permanent;
- 404 (xvi) Unemployment insurance benefits;
- 405 (xvii) Judgments recovered for personal injuries and awards from other civil actions;
- 406 (xviii) Gifts that consist of cash or other liquid instruments, or which can be 407 converted to cash;
- 408 (xix) Prizes;
- 409 (xx) Lottery winnings;
- 410 (xxi) Alimony or maintenance received from persons other than parties to the 411 proceeding before the court;
- 412 (xxii) Assets which are used for the support of the family; and
- 413 (xxiii) Other income.
- 414 (B) Self-employment income. Income from self-employment includes income from, 415 but not limited to, business operations, work as an independent contractor or consultant, 416 sales of goods or services, and rental properties, less ordinary and reasonable expenses 417 necessary to produce such income. Income from self-employment, rent, royalties,

418 proprietorship of a business, or joint ownership of a partnership, limited liability 419 company, or closely held corporation is defined as gross receipts minus ordinary and 420 reasonable expenses required for self-employment or business operations. Ordinary 421 and reasonable expenses of self-employment or business operations necessary to 422 produce income do not include:

423 (i) Excessive promotional, travel, vehicle, or personal living expenses, depreciation 424 on equipment, or costs of operation of home offices; or

425 (ii) Amounts allowable by the Internal Revenue Service for the accelerated 426 component of depreciation expenses, investment tax credits, or any other business 427 expenses determined by the court or the jury to be inappropriate for determining gross 428 income.

429 In general, income and expenses from self-employment or operation of a business 430 should be carefully reviewed by the court or the jury to determine an appropriate level 431 of gross income available to the parent to satisfy a child support obligation. Generally, 432 this amount will differ from a determination of business income for tax purposes.

433 (C) Fringe benefits. Fringe benefits for inclusion as income or 'in kind' remuneration 434 received by a parent in the course of employment, or operation of a trade or business, 435 shall be counted as income if the benefits significantly reduce personal living expenses.
436 Such fringe benefits might include, but are not limited to, use of a company car, 437 housing, or room and board. Fringe benefits shall not include employee benefits that 438 are typically added to the salary, wage, or other compensation that a parent may receive 439 as a standard added benefit, including, but not limited to, employer paid portions of 440 health insurance premiums or employer contributions to a retirement or pension plan.

441 (D) Variable income. Variable income such as commissions, bonuses, overtime pay, 442 military bonuses, and dividends shall be averaged by the court or the jury over a 443 reasonable period of time consistent with the circumstances of the case and added to a 444 parent's fixed salary or wages to determine gross income. When income is received on 445 an irregular, nonrecurring, or one-time basis, the court or the jury may, but is not 446 required to, average or prorate the income over a reasonable specified period of time 447 or require the parent to pay as a one-time support amount a percentage of his or her 448 nonrecurring income, taking into consideration the percentage of recurring income of 449 that parent.

450 (E) Military compensation and allowances. Income for a parent who is an active 451 duty member of the regular or reserve component of the United States armed forces, the 452 United States Coast Guard, the merchant marine of the United States, the commissioned 453 corps of the Public Health Service or the National Oceanic and Atmospheric 454 Administration, the National Guard, or the Air National Guard shall include:

- 455 (i) Base pay;
- 456 (ii) Drill pay;
- 457 (iii) Basic allowance for subsistence, whether paid directly to the parent or received 458 in-kind; and
- 459 (iv) Basic allowance for housing, whether paid directly to the parent or received 460 in-kind, determined at the parent's pay grade at the without dependent rate, but shall 461 include only so much of the allowance that is not attributable to area variable housing 462 costs.

463 Except as determined by the court or the jury, special pay or incentive pay, allowances 464 for clothing or family separation, and reimbursed expenses related to the parent's 465 assignment to a high cost of living location shall not be considered income for the 466 purpose of determining gross income.

467 (2) Exclusions from gross income. Excluded from gross income are the following:

- 468 (A) Child support payments received by either parent for the benefit of a child of 469 another relationship;
- 470 (B) Benefits received from means-tested public assistance programs such as, but not 471 limited to:

- 472 (i) PeachCare for Kids Program, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families Program, 473 or similar programs in other states or territories under Title IV-A of the federal Social 474 Security Act;
- 475 (ii) Food stamps or the value of food assistance provided by way of electronic 476 benefits transfer procedures by the Department of Human Services;
- 477 (iii) Supplemental security income received under Title XVI of the federal Social 478 Security Act;
- 479 (iv) Benefits received under Section 402(d) of the federal Social Security Act for 480 disabled adult children of deceased disabled workers; and
- 481 (v) Low-income heating and energy assistance program payments;
- 482 (C) Foster care payments paid by the Department of Human Services or a licensed 483 child-placing agency for providing foster care to a foster child in the custody of the 484 Department of Human Services;
- 485 (D) A nonparent custodian's gross income; and
- 486 (E) Benefits received under Title IV-B or IV-E of the federal Social Security Act and 487 state funding associated therewith for adoption assistance.

488 (3) Social Security benefits.

489 (A) Benefits received under Title II of the federal Social Security Act by a child on the 490 ~~obligor's~~ noncustodial parent's account shall be counted as child support payments and 491 shall be applied against the final child support amount to be paid by the ~~obligor~~ 492 noncustodial parent for the child.

493 (B) After calculating the ~~obligor's~~ noncustodial parent's monthly gross income, 494 including the countable social security benefits as specified in division (1)(A)(xiii) of 495 this subsection, and after calculating the amount of child support, if the presumptive 496 amount of child support, as increased or decreased by deviations, is greater than the 497 social security benefits paid on behalf of the child on the ~~obligor's~~ noncustodial parent's

498 account, the ~~obligor~~ noncustodial parent shall be required to pay the amount exceeding 499 the social security benefit as part of the final order in the case.

500 (C) After calculating the ~~obligor's~~ noncustodial parent's monthly gross income, 501 including the countable social security benefits as specified in division (1)(A)(xiii) of 502 this subsection, and after calculating the amount of child support, if the presumptive 503 amount of child support, as increased or decreased by deviations, is equal to or less than 504 the social security benefits paid to the nonparent custodian or custodial parent on behalf 505 of the child on the ~~obligor's~~ noncustodial parent's account, the child support 506 responsibility of that parent shall have been met and no further child support shall be 507 paid.

508 (D) Any benefit amounts under Title II of the federal Social Security Act as determined 509 by the Social Security Administration sent to the nonparent custodian or custodial 510 parent by the Social Security Administration for the child's benefit which are greater 511 than the final child support amount shall be retained by the nonparent custodian or 512 custodial parent for the child's benefit and shall not be used as a reason for decreasing 513 the final child support amount or reducing arrearages.

514 (3.1) United States Department of Veterans Affairs disability benefits.

515 (A) Benefits received under the United States Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) 516 disability benefits by a child on the noncustodial parent's account shall be counted as 517 child support payments and shall be applied against the final child support amount to 518 be paid by the noncustodial parent for the child.

519 (B) After determining the noncustodial parent's monthly gross income, including the 520 VA disability benefits and after calculating the amount of child support per 521 subsection (b) of this Code section, if the presumptive amount of child support, as 522 increased or decreased by deviations, is greater than the VA disability benefits paid on 523 behalf of the child on the noncustodial parent's account, the noncustodial parent shall

524 be required to pay the amount exceeding the VA disability benefit as the final child 525 support amount.

526 (C) After determining the noncustodial parent's monthly gross income, including the 527 countable VA disability benefits paid, and after calculating the amount of child support 528 per subsection (b) of this Code section, if the presumptive amount of child support, as 529 increased or decreased by deviations, is equal to or less than the VA disability benefits 530 paid on behalf of the child on the noncustodial parent's account, the child support 531 responsibility of the noncustodial parent shall have been met and no further child 532 support shall be paid.

533 (D) Any benefit amounts received under the United States Department of Veterans 534 Affairs (VA) disability sent to the nonparent custodian or custodial parent by the United 535 States Department of Veterans Affairs for the child's benefit which are greater than the 536 final child support amount shall be retained by the nonparent custodian or custodial 537 parent for the child's benefit and shall not be used as a reason for decreasing the final 538 child support amount or reducing arrearages.

539 (4) Reliable evidence of income.

540 (A) Imputed income. When establishing the amount of child support, if a parent fails 541 to produce reliable evidence of income, such as tax returns for prior years, check stubs, 542 or other information for determining current ability to pay child support or ability to 543 pay child support in prior years, and the court or the jury has no other reliable evidence 544 of the parent's income or income potential, gross income for the current year may be 545 imputed. When imputing income, the court or the jury shall take into account the 546 specific circumstances of the parent to the extent known, including such factors as the 547 parent's assets, residence, employment and earnings history, job skills, educational 548 attainment, literacy, age, health, criminal record and other employment barriers, and 549 record of seeking work, as well as the local job market, the availability of employers 550 willing to hire the parent, prevailing earnings level in the local community, and other

551 relevant background factors in the case. If a parent is incarcerated, the court or the jury 552 shall not assume an ability for earning capacity based upon pre-incarceration wages or 553 other employment related income, but income may be imputed based upon the actual 554 income and assets available to such incarcerated parent.

555 (B) Modification. When cases with established orders are reviewed for modification 556 and a parent fails to produce reliable evidence of income, such as tax returns for prior 557 years, check stubs, or other information for determining current ability to pay child 558 support or ability to pay child support in prior years, and the court or the jury has no 559 other reliable evidence of such parent's income or income potential, the court or the jury 560 may impute income as set forth in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, or may increase 561 the child support of the parent failing or refusing to produce evidence of income by an 562 increment of at least 10 percent per year of such parent's gross income for each year 563 since the final order was entered or last modified and shall calculate the basic child 564 support obligation using the increased amount as such parent's gross income.

565 (C) Rehearing. If income is imputed pursuant to subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, 566 the party believing the income of the other party is higher than the amount imputed may 567 provide within 90 days, upon motion to the court, evidence necessary to determine the 568 appropriate amount of child support based upon reliable evidence. A hearing shall be 569 scheduled after the motion is filed. The court may increase, decrease, or leave 570 unchanged the amount of current child support from the date of filing of either parent's 571 initial filing or motion for reconsideration. While the motion for reconsideration is 572 pending, the ~~obligor~~ noncustodial parent shall be responsible for the amount of child 573 support originally ordered. Arrearages entered in the original child support order based 574 upon imputed income shall not be forgiven. When there is reliable evidence to support 575 a motion for reconsideration of the amount of income imputed, the party seeking 576 reconsideration shall not be required to prove the existence of grounds for modification 577 of an order pursuant to subsection (k) of this Code section.

578 (D) Willful or voluntary unemployment or underemployment. In determining 579 whether a parent is willfully or voluntarily unemployed or underemployed, the court 580 or the jury shall ascertain the reasons for the parent's occupational choices and assess 581 the reasonableness of these choices in light of the parent's responsibility to support his 582 or her child and whether such choices benefit the child. A determination of willful or 583 voluntary unemployment or underemployment shall not be limited to occupational 584 choices motivated only by an intent to avoid or reduce the payment of child support but 585 can be based on any intentional choice or act that affects a parent's income. A 586 determination of willful or voluntary unemployment or underemployment shall not be 587 made when an individual's incarceration prevents employment. In determining willful 588 or voluntary unemployment or underemployment, the court or the jury may examine 589 whether there is a substantial likelihood that the parent could, with reasonable effort, 590 apply his or her education, skills, or training to produce income. Specific factors for 591 the court or the jury to consider when determining willful or voluntary unemployment 592 or underemployment include, but are not limited to:

- 593 (i) The parent's past and present employment;
- 594 (ii) The parent's education and training;
- 595 (iii) Whether unemployment or underemployment for the purpose of pursuing 596 additional training or education is reasonable in light of the parent's responsibility to 597 support his or her child and, to this end, whether the training or education may 598 ultimately benefit the child in the case immediately under consideration by increasing 599 the parent's level of support for that child in the future;
- 600 (iv) A parent's ownership of valuable assets and resources, such as an expensive 601 home or automobile, that appear inappropriate or unreasonable for the income 602 claimed by the parent;
- 603 (v) The parent's own health and ability to work outside the home; and

604 (vi) The parent's role as caretaker of a child of that parent, a disabled or seriously ill 605 child of that parent, or a disabled or seriously ill adult child of that parent, or any 606 other disabled or seriously ill relative for whom that parent has assumed the role of 607 caretaker, which eliminates or substantially reduces the parent's ability to work 608 outside the home, and the need of that parent to continue in the role of caretaker in the 609 future. When considering the income potential of a parent whose work experience is 610 limited due to the caretaker role of that parent, the court or the jury shall consider the 611 following factors:

612 (I) Whether the parent acted in the role of full-time caretaker immediately prior to 613 separation by the married parties or prior to the divorce or annulment of the 614 marriage or dissolution of another relationship in which the parent was a full-time 615 caretaker;

616 (II) The length of time the parent staying at home has remained out of the work 617 force for this purpose;

618 (III) The parent's education, training, and ability to work; and 619 (IV) Whether the parent is caring for a child who is four years of age or younger.

620 If the court or the jury determines that a parent is willfully or voluntarily 621 unemployed or underemployed, child support shall be calculated based on a 622 determination of earning capacity, as evidenced by educational level or previous 623 work experience. In the absence of any other reliable evidence, income may be 624 imputed to the parent as provided for in subparagraph (f)(4)(A) of this Code section.

625 A determination of willful and voluntary unemployment or underemployment shall not 626 be made when an individual is activated from the National Guard or other armed forces 627 unit or enlists or is drafted for full-time service in the armed forces of the United States.

628 (5) Adjustments to gross income.

629 (A) Self-employment. One-half of the self-employment and Medicare taxes shall be 630 calculated as follows:

631 (i) Six and two-tenths percent of self-employment income up to the maximum 632 amount to which federal old age, survivors, and disability insurance (OASDI) applies; 633 plus

634 (ii) One and forty-five one-hundredths of a percent of self-employment income for 635 Medicare

636 and this amount shall be deducted from a self-employed parent's monthly gross income.

637 (B) Preexisting orders. An adjustment to the parent's monthly gross income shall be 638 made on the Child Support Schedule B – Adjusted Income for current preexisting 639 orders for a period of not less than 12 months immediately prior to the date of the 640 hearing or such period that an order has been in effect if less than 12 months prior to 641 the date of the hearing before the court to set, modify, or enforce child support.

642 (i) In calculating the adjustment for preexisting orders, the court shall include only 643 those preexisting orders meeting the criteria set forth in subparagraph (a)(18)(B) of 644 this Code section;

645 (ii) The priority for preexisting orders shall be determined by the date and time of 646 filing with the clerk of court of the initial order in each case. Subsequent 647 modifications of the initial support order shall not affect the priority position 648 established by the date and time of the initial order. In any modification proceeding, 649 the court rendering the decision shall make a specific finding of the date, and time if 650 known, of the initial order of the case;

651 (iii) Adjustments shall be allowed for current preexisting support only to the extent 652 that the payments are actually being paid as evidenced by documentation including, 653 but not limited to, payment history from a court clerk, the child support services' 654 computer data base, the child support payment history, or canceled checks or other 655 written proof of payments paid directly to the other parent. The maximum credit 656 allowed for a preexisting order is an average of the amount of current support actually 657 paid under the preexisting order over the past 12 months prior to the hearing date;

658 (iv) All preexisting orders shall be entered on the Child Support Schedule B – 659 Adjusted Income for the purpose of calculating the total amount of the credit to be 660 included on the child support worksheet; and

661 (v) Payments being made by a parent on any arrearages shall not be considered 662 payments on preexisting orders or subsequent orders and shall not be used as a basis 663 for reducing gross income.

664 (C) Theoretical child support orders. In addition to the adjustments to monthly gross 665 income for self-employment taxes provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph and 666 for preexisting orders provided in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, credits for either 667 parent's other qualified child living in the parent's home for whom the parent owes a 668 legal duty of support may be considered by the court for the purpose of reducing the 669 parent's gross income. To consider a parent's other qualified children for determining 670 the theoretical child support order, a parent shall present documentary evidence of the 671 parent-child relationship to the court. Adjustments to income pursuant to this 672 subparagraph may be considered in such circumstances in which the failure to consider 673 a qualified child would cause substantial hardship to the parent; provided, however, that 674 such consideration of an adjustment shall be based upon the best interest of the child 675 for whom child support is being awarded. If the court, in its discretion, decides to apply 676 the qualified child adjustment, the basic child support obligation of the parent for the 677 number of other qualified children living with such parent shall be determined based 678 upon that parent's monthly gross income. Except for self-employment taxes paid, no 679 other amounts shall be subtracted from the parent's monthly gross income when 680 calculating a theoretical child support order under this subparagraph. The basic child 681 support obligation for such parent shall be multiplied by 75 percent and the resulting 682 amount shall be subtracted from such parent's monthly gross income and entered on the 683 Child Support Schedule B – Adjusted Income.

684 (D) Multiple family situations. In multiple family situations, the priority of 685 adjustments to a parent's monthly gross income shall be calculated in the following 686 order:

687 (i) Preexisting orders according to the date and time of the initial order as set forth 688 in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph; and 689 (ii) Application of any credit for a parent's other qualified children using the 690 procedure set forth in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph.

691 ~~(g)(1) Parenting time deviation adjustment. The court or the jury may deviate from~~ 692 ~~the presumptive amount of child support as set forth in subparagraph (i)(2)(K) of this~~ 693 ~~Code section.~~

694 (A) The amounts listed in Georgia's basic child support obligation table are based on 695 commensurate expenses for a child in intact families. Accordingly, there is no 696 accounting for parenting time built into the basic child support obligation table. When 697 a noncustodial parent has court ordered parenting time with a child, some of the 698 expenses represented by the amount in the basic child support obligation table are 699 incurred by the noncustodial parent. Those expenses incurred by the noncustodial 700 parent are accounted for in the parenting time adjustment.

701 (B) The parenting time adjustment reduces the basic child support obligation amount 702 for the noncustodial parent to account for court ordered parenting time as defined by 703 the term parenting time unit of measurement in paragraph (17.1) of subsection (a) of 704 this Code section. This adjustment could reduce the noncustodial parent's share of the 705 basic child support obligation amount to zero or, in some circumstances where the 706 custodial parent's gross income exceeds the noncustodial parent's gross income, 707 increase the custodial parent's amount of the basic child support obligation to an amount 708 higher than the noncustodial parent.

709 (C) For purposes of this Code section, the amount of a parent's parenting time is 710 measured as defined by the term parenting time unit of measurement in subparagraph

711 (17.1) of subsection (a) of this Code section. Parenting time includes time with the child 712 whether it is designated as visitation, physical custody, or parenting time. This 713 parenting time adjustment shall only be used to account for court ordered parenting 714 time. If there is no court order awarding parenting time, the court shall determine the 715 child support obligation without the use of this parenting time adjustment.

716 (2) Calculation of parenting time adjustment.

717 (A) In the calculation below:

718 (i) If there are multiple children with varying degrees of court ordered parenting time, 719 use the average number of court ordered days;

720 (ii) In split parenting cases, as provided for in subsection (l) of this Code section, 721 where two worksheets are prepared, the parenting time adjustment as outlined in this 722 subsection shall be used when preparing both worksheets;

723 (B) The court shall apply the following formula to determine the parenting time 724 adjustment:

725 (i) Raise to the power of 2.5 the number of court ordered days the noncustodial 726 parent has with the child;

727 (ii) Raise to the power of 2.5 the number of court ordered days the custodial parent 728 has with the child;

729 (iii) Multiply the result of clause (i) by the dollar amount of the custodial parent's 730 share of the basic child support obligation;

731 (iv) Multiply the result of clause (ii) by the dollar amount of the noncustodial parent's 732 share of the basic child support obligation;

733 (v) Subtract the result of clause (iv) from the result of clause (iii);

734 (vi) Divide the result of clause (v) by the sum of clauses (i) and (ii);

735 (vii) Add the result of clause (vi) to the noncustodial parent's basic child support 736 obligation amount; and

737 (viii) The amount of the noncustodial parent's parenting time adjustment is the result 738 of clause (vii).

739 (C) The determination of the parenting time adjustment shall be entered on the Child 740 Support Schedule C - Parenting Time Adjustment.

741 (h) ~~Adjusted support obligation~~ Additional expenses. The basic child support 742 obligation table does not include the cost of the parent's work related child care costs, 743 health insurance premiums, or future uninsured ~~health care~~ healthcare expenses. The 744 additional expenses for the child's health insurance premiums and work related child care 745 costs shall be included in the calculations to determine child support-, including a ~~A~~ 746 nonparent custodian's expenses for work related child care costs and health insurance 747 premiums, which shall be taken into account when establishing a final order. Calculate the 748 amount of the additional expenses for the costs of health insurance and work related child 749 care, prorating such expenses in accordance with each parent's pro rata share of the 750 obligation and adding such expenses to the pro rata share of the basic child support 751 obligation. The monthly cost of health insurance premiums and work related child care 752 costs shall be entered on the Child Support Schedule D - Additional Expenses. The pro rata 753 share of the monthly basic child support obligation and the pro rata share of the combined 754 additional expenses shall be added together to create the presumptive amount of child 755 support.

756 (1) Work related child care costs.

757 (A) Work related child care costs necessary for the parent's employment, education, 758 or vocational training that are determined by the court to be appropriate, and that are 759 appropriate to the parents' financial abilities and to the lifestyle of the child if the 760 parents and child were living together, shall be averaged for a monthly amount and 761 entered on ~~the child support worksheet in~~ Schedule D under the column of the parent 762 initially paying the expense. Work related child care costs of a nonparent custodian 763 shall be considered when determining the amount of this expense.

764 (B) If a child care subsidy is being provided pursuant to a means-tested public 765 assistance program, only the amount of the child care expense actually paid by either 766 parent or a nonparent custodian shall be included in the calculation.

767 (C) If either parent is the provider of child care services to the child for whom support 768 is being determined, the value of those services shall not be an adjustment to the basic 769 child support obligation when calculating the support award.

770 (D) If child care is provided without charge to the parent, the value of these services 771 shall not be an adjustment to the basic child support obligation. If child care is or will 772 be provided by a person who is paid for his or her services, proof of actual cost or 773 payment shall be shown to the court before the court includes such payment in its 774 consideration.

775 (E) The amount of work related child care costs shall be determined and added as an 776 adjustment to the basic child support obligation as 'additional expenses' whether paid 777 directly by the parent or through a payroll deduction.

778 (F)(i) The total amount of work related child care costs shall be divided between the 779 parents pro rata to determine the presumptive amount of child support and shall be 780 included in the worksheet and the final order.

781 (ii) In situations in which work related child care costs may be variable, the court or 782 the jury may, in its discretion, remove work related child care costs from the 783 calculation of support, and divide the work related child care costs pro rata, to be paid 784 within a time specified in the final order. If a parent or nonparent custodian fails to 785 comply with the final order:

786 (I) The other parent or nonparent custodian may enforce payment of the work 787 related child care costs by any means permitted by law; or 788 (II) Child support services shall pursue enforcement when such unpaid costs have 789 been reduced to a judgment in a sum certain.

790 (2) Cost of health insurance premiums.

791 (A)(i) The amount that is, or will be, paid by a parent for health insurance for the 792 child for whom support is being determined shall be an adjustment to the basic child 793 support obligation and prorated between the parents based upon their respective 794 incomes. Payments made by a parent's employer for health insurance and not 795 deducted from the parent's wages shall not be included. When a child for whom 796 support is being determined is covered by a family policy, only the health insurance 797 premium actually attributable to that child shall be added.

798 (ii) The amount of the cost for the child's health insurance premium shall be 799 determined and added as an adjustment to the basic child support obligation as 800 'additional expenses' whether paid directly by the parent or through a payroll 801 deduction.

802 (iii) The total amount of the cost for the child's health insurance premium shall be 803 divided between the parents pro rata to determine the total presumptive amount of 804 child support and shall be included in the Child Support Schedule D – Additional 805 Expenses and written order of the court together with the amount of the basic child 806 support obligation.

807 (B)(i) If either parent has health insurance reasonably available at reasonable cost 808 that provides for the ~~health care~~ healthcare needs of the child, then an amount to cover 809 the cost of the premium shall be added as an adjustment to the basic child support 810 obligation. A health insurance premium paid by a nonparent custodian shall be 811 included when determining the amount of health insurance expense. In determining 812 the amount to be added to the order for the health insurance cost, only the amount of 813 the health insurance cost attributable to the child who is the subject of the order shall 814 be included.

815 (ii) If coverage is applicable to other persons and the amount of the health insurance 816 premium attributable to the child who is the subject of the current action for support 817 is not verifiable, the total cost to the parent paying the premium shall be prorated by

818 the number of persons covered so that only the cost attributable to the child who is the 819 subject of the order under consideration is included. The amount of health insurance 820 premium shall be determined by dividing the total amount of the insurance premium 821 by the number of persons covered by the insurance policy and multiplying the 822 resulting amount by the number of children for whom support is being determined 823 and who are covered by the insurance policy. The monthly cost of health insurance 824 premium shall be entered on the Child Support Schedule D – Additional Expenses in 825 the column of the parent paying the premium.

826 (iii) Eligibility for or enrollment of the child in Medicaid, the PeachCare for Kids 827 Program, or other public ~~health care~~ healthcare program shall satisfy the requirement 828 that the final order provide for the child's ~~health care~~ healthcare needs. Health 829 coverage through Medicaid, the PeachCare for Kids Program, or other public ~~health~~ 830 ~~care~~ healthcare program shall not prevent a court from also ordering either or both 831 parents to obtain other health insurance for the child.

832 (3) Future uninsured healthcare ~~Uninsured health care~~ expenses.

833 (A) The child's future uninsured ~~health care~~ healthcare expenses shall be the financial 834 responsibility of both parents. The final order shall include provisions for payment of 835 future uninsured ~~health care~~ healthcare expenses; provided, however, that future 836 uninsured ~~health care~~ healthcare expenses shall not be used for the purpose of 837 calculating the amount of child support. The parents shall divide the future uninsured 838 ~~health care~~ healthcare expenses pro rata, unless otherwise specifically ordered by the 839 court.

840 (B) If a parent fails to pay his or her pro rata share of the child's future uninsured ~~health~~ 841 ~~care~~ healthcare expenses, as specified in the final order, within a reasonable time after 842 receipt of evidence documenting the uninsured portion of the expense:

843 (i) The other parent or the nonparent custodian may enforce payment of the expense 844 by any means permitted by law; or

845 (ii) Child support services shall pursue enforcement of payment of such unpaid 846 expenses only if the unpaid expenses have been reduced to a judgment in a sum 847 certain amount.

848 (i) Grounds for deviation.

849 (1) General principles.

850 (A) The amount of child support established by this Code section and the presumptive 851 amount of child support are rebuttable and the court or the jury may deviate from the 852 presumptive amount of child support in compliance with this subsection. In deviating 853 from the presumptive amount of child support, consideration shall be given to the best 854 interest of the child for whom support under this Code section is being determined. A 855 nonparent custodian's expenses may be the basis for a deviation as well as a 856 noncustodial parent's ability or inability to pay the presumptive amount of child 857 support.

858 (B) When ordering a deviation from the presumptive amount of child support, the court 859 or the jury shall consider all available income of the parents and shall make written 860 findings or special interrogatory findings that an amount of child support other than the 861 amount calculated is reasonably necessary to provide for the needs of the child for 862 whom child support is being determined and the order or special interrogatory shall 863 state:

- 864 (i) The reasons for the deviation from the presumptive amount of child support;
865 (ii) The amount of child support that would have been required under this Code 866 section if the presumptive amount of child support had not been rebutted; and 867 (iii) How, in its determination:
868 (I) Application of the presumptive amount of child support would be unjust or 869 inappropriate; and 870 (II) The best interest of the child for whom support is being determined will be 871 served by deviation from the presumptive amount of child support.

872 (C) No deviation in the presumptive amount of child support shall be made which 873 seriously impairs the ability of the custodial parent to maintain minimally adequate 874 housing, food, and clothing for the child being supported by the order and to provide 875 other basic necessities, as determined by the court or the jury.

876 (D) If the circumstances which supported the deviation cease to exist, the final order 877 may be modified as set forth in subsection (k) of this Code section to eliminate the 878 deviation.

879 (2) Specific deviations.

880 (A) High income. For purposes of this subparagraph, parents are considered to be 881 high-income parents if their combined adjusted gross income exceeds $30,000.00 882 $40,000.00 per month. For high-income parents, the court shall set the basic child 883 support obligation at the highest amount allowed by the basic child support obligation 884 table but the court or the jury may consider an upward deviation to attain an appropriate 885 award of child support for high-income parents which is consistent with the best interest 886 of the child.

887 (B) ~~Low income:~~

888 ~~(i) If the noncustodial parent can provide evidence sufficient to demonstrate no~~ 889 ~~earning capacity or that his or her pro rata share of the presumptive amount of child~~ 890 ~~support would create an extreme economic hardship for such parent, the court or the~~ 891 ~~jury may consider a low-income deviation.~~

892 ~~(ii) A noncustodial parent whose sole source of income is supplemental security~~ 893 ~~income received under Title XVI of the federal Social Security Act shall be~~ 894 ~~considered to have no earning capacity.~~

895 ~~(iii) The court or the jury shall examine all attributable and excluded sources of~~ 896 ~~income, assets, and benefits available to the noncustodial parent and may consider the~~ 897 ~~noncustodial parent's basic subsistence needs and all of his or her reasonable~~

898 ~~expenses, ensuring that such expenses are actually paid by the noncustodial parent~~ 899 ~~and are clearly justified expenses.~~

900 ~~(iv) In considering a request for a low-income deviation, the court or the jury shall~~ 901 ~~then weigh the income and all attributable and excluded sources of income, assets,~~ 902 ~~and benefits and all reasonable expenses of each parent, the relative hardship that a~~ 903 ~~reduction in the amount of child support paid to the custodial parent would have on~~ 904 ~~the custodial parent's household, the needs of each parent, the needs of the child for~~ 905 ~~whom child support is being determined, and the ability of the noncustodial parent to~~ 906 ~~pay child support.~~

907 ~~(v) Following a review of the noncustodial parent's gross income and expenses, and~~ 908 ~~taking into account each parent's basic child support obligation adjusted by health~~ 909 ~~insurance and work related child care costs and the relative hardships on the parents~~ 910 ~~and the child, the court or the jury, upon request by either party or upon the court's~~ 911 ~~initiative, may consider a downward deviation to attain an appropriate award of child~~ 912 ~~support which is consistent with the best interest of the child.~~

913 ~~(vi) For the purpose of calculating a low-income deviation, the noncustodial parent's~~ 914 ~~minimum child support for one child shall be not less than $100.00 per month, and~~ 915 ~~such amount shall be increased by at least $50.00 for each additional child for the~~ 916 ~~same case for which child support is being ordered.~~

917 ~~(vii) A low-income deviation granted pursuant to this subparagraph shall apply only~~ 918 ~~to the current child support amount and shall not prohibit an additional amount being~~ 919 ~~ordered to reduce a noncustodial parent's arrears.~~

920 ~~(viii) If a low-income deviation is granted pursuant to this subparagraph, such~~ 921 ~~deviation shall not prohibit the court or the jury from granting an increase or decrease~~ 922 ~~to the presumptive amount of child support by the use of any other specific or~~ 923 ~~nonspecific deviation.~~

924 ~~(E)~~ Other health related insurance. If the court or the jury finds that either parent 925 has vision or dental insurance available at a reasonable cost for the child, the court or 926 the jury may deviate from the presumptive amount of child support for the cost of such 927 insurance.

928 ~~(D)~~(C) Life insurance. In accordance with Code Section 19-6-34, if the court or the 929 jury finds that either parent has purchased life insurance on the life of either parent or 930 the lives of both parents for the benefit of the child, the court may deviate from the 931 presumptive amount of child support for the cost of such insurance by either adding or 932 subtracting the amount of the premium.

933 ~~(E)~~(D) Child and dependent care tax credit. If the court or the jury finds that one 934 of the parents is entitled to the Child and Dependent Care Tax Credit, the court or the 935 jury may deviate from the presumptive amount of child support in consideration of such 936 credit.

937 ~~(F)~~(E) Travel expenses. If court ordered ~~visitation~~ parenting time related travel 938 expenses are substantial due to the distance between the parents, the court may order 939 the allocation of such costs or the jury may, by a finding in its special interrogatory, 940 allocate such costs by deviation from the presumptive amount of child support, taking 941 into consideration the circumstances of the respective parents as well as which parent 942 moved and the reason for such move.

943 ~~(G)~~(F) Alimony. Actual payments of alimony shall not be considered as a deduction 944 from gross income but may be considered as a deviation from the presumptive amount 945 of child support. If the court or the jury considers the actual payment of alimony, the 946 court shall make a written finding of such consideration or the jury, in its special 947 interrogatory, shall make a written finding of such consideration as a basis for deviation 948 from the presumptive amount of child support.

949 ~~(H)~~(G) Mortgage. If the noncustodial parent is providing shelter, such as paying the 950 mortgage of the home, or has provided a home at no cost to the custodial parent in

951 which the child resides, the court or the jury may allocate such costs or an amount 952 equivalent to such costs by deviation from the presumptive amount of child support, 953 taking into consideration the circumstances of the respective parents and the best 954 interest of the child.

955 ~~(F)~~(H) Permanency plan or foster care plan. In cases when the child is in the legal 956 custody of the Department of Human Services, the child protection or foster care 957 agency of another state or territory, or any other child-caring entity, public or private, 958 the court or the jury may consider a deviation from the presumptive amount of child 959 support if the deviation will assist in accomplishing a permanency plan or foster care 960 plan for the child that has a goal of returning the child to the parent or parents and the 961 parent's need to establish an adequate household or to otherwise adequately prepare 962 herself or himself for the return of the child clearly justifies a deviation for this purpose.

963 ~~(F)~~(I) Extraordinary expenses. The basic child support obligation table includes 964 average child-rearing expenditures for families given the parents' combined adjusted 965 gross income and number of children. Extraordinary expenses are in excess of average 966 amounts estimated in the basic child support obligation table and are highly variable
967 among families. Extraordinary expenses shall be considered on a case-by-case basis 968 in the calculation of support and may form the basis for deviation from the presumptive 969 amount of child support so that the actual amount of such expense is considered in the 970 final order for only those families actually incurring the expense. Extraordinary 971 expenses shall be prorated between the parents by assigning or deducting credit for 972 actual payments for extraordinary expenses.

973 (i) Extraordinary educational expenses. Extraordinary educational expenses may 974 be a basis for deviation from the presumptive amount of child support. Extraordinary 975 educational expenses include, but are not limited to, tuition, room and board, lab fees, 976 books, fees, and other reasonable and necessary expenses associated with special 977 needs education or private elementary and secondary schooling that are appropriate

978 to the parent's financial abilities and to the lifestyle of the child if the parents and the 979 child were living together.

980 (I) In determining the amount of deviation for extraordinary educational expenses, 981 scholarships, grants, stipends, and other cost-reducing programs received by or on 982 behalf of the child shall be considered; and 983 (II) If a deviation is allowed for extraordinary educational expenses, a monthly 984 average of the extraordinary educational expenses shall be based on evidence of 985 prior or anticipated expenses and entered on the Child Support Schedule E – 986 Deviations.

987 (ii) Special expenses incurred for child-rearing. Special expenses incurred for 988 child-rearing, including, but not limited to, quantifiable expense variations related to 989 the food, clothing, and hygiene costs of children at different age levels, may be a basis 990 for a deviation from the presumptive amount of child support. Such expenses include, 991 but are not limited to, summer camp; music or art lessons; travel; school sponsored 992 extracurricular activities, such as band, clubs, and athletics; and other activities 993 intended to enhance the athletic, social, or cultural development of a child but not 994 otherwise required to be used in calculating the presumptive amount of child support 995 as are health insurance premiums and work related child care costs. A portion of the 996 basic child support obligation is intended to cover average amounts of special 997 expenses incurred in the rearing of a child. In order to determine if a deviation for 998 special expenses is warranted, the court or the jury shall consider the full amount of 999 the special expenses as described in this division; and when such special expenses 1000 exceed 7 percent of the basic child support obligation, then the additional amount of 1001 special expenses shall be considered as a deviation to cover the full amount of the 1002 special expenses.

1003 (iii) Extraordinary medical expenses. In instances of extreme economic hardship 1004 involving extraordinary medical expenses not covered by insurance, the court or the

1005 jury may consider a deviation from the presumptive amount of child support for 1006 extraordinary medical expenses. Such expenses may include, but are not limited to, 1007 extraordinary medical expenses of the child or a parent of the child; provided, 1008 however, that any such deviation:

1009 (I) Shall not act to leave a child unsupported; and 1010 (II) May be ordered for a specific period of time measured in months.

1011 When extraordinary medical expenses are claimed, the court or the jury shall consider 1012 the resources available for meeting such needs, including sources available from 1013 agencies and other adults.

1014 ~~(K) Parenting time:~~

1015 ~~(i) The child support obligation table is based upon expenditures for a child in intact~~
1016 ~~households. The court may order or the jury may find by special interrogatory a~~ 1017 ~~deviation from the presumptive amount of child support when special circumstances~~ 1018 ~~make the presumptive amount of child support excessive or inadequate due to~~ 1019 ~~extended parenting time as set forth in the order of visitation, the child residing with~~ 1020 ~~both parents equally, or visitation rights not being utilized.~~

1021 ~~(ii) If the court or the jury determines that a parenting time deviation is applicable,~~ 1022 ~~then such deviation shall be included with all other deviations.~~

1023 ~~(iii) In accordance with subsection (d) of Code Section 19-11-8, if any action or~~ 1024 ~~claim for parenting time or a parenting time deviation is brought under this~~ 1025 ~~subparagraph, it shall be an action or claim solely between the custodial parent and~~ 1026 ~~the noncustodial parent, and not any third parties, including child support services.~~

1027 (3) Nonspecific deviations. Deviations from the presumptive amount of child support 1028 may be appropriate for reasons in addition to those established under this subsection 1029 when the court or the jury finds it is in the best interest of the child.

1030 (i.1) Low-income adjustment.

1031 In cases where the monthly adjusted gross income of a parent, considering the number of 1032 children for whom support is being determined, is less than the highest amount of monthly 1033 adjusted gross income shown in the low-income adjustment table in subsection (p) of this 1034 Code section, then the child support obligation of such parent(s) shall be the lesser of such 1035 parent's presumptive amount of child support or the amount determined using the 1036 low-income adjustment table. If the low-income adjustment table applies, the child support 1037 calculator will perform the needed comparison automatically and input the amount on the 1038 child support worksheet.

1039 (j) Involuntary loss of income.

1040 (1) In the event a parent suffers an involuntary termination of employment, has an 1041 extended involuntary loss of average weekly hours, is involved in an organized strike, 1042 incurs a loss of health, becomes incarcerated, or similar involuntary adversity resulting 1043 in a loss of income of 25 percent or more, then the portion of child support attributable 1044 to lost income shall not accrue from the date of the service of the petition for 1045 modification, provided that service is made on the other parent. It shall not be considered 1046 an involuntary termination of employment if the parent has left the employer without 1047 good cause in connection with the parent's most recent work.

1048 (2) In the event a modification action is filed pursuant to this subsection, the court shall 1049 make every effort to expedite hearing such action.

1050 (3) The court may, at its discretion, phase in the new child support award over a period 1051 of up to one year with the phasing in being largely evenly distributed with at least an 1052 initial immediate adjustment of not less than 25 percent of the difference and at least one 1053 intermediate adjustment prior to the final adjustment at the end of the phase-in period.

1054 (k) Modification.

1055 (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) of this subsection, a parent shall not have the 1056 right to petition for modification of the child support award regardless of the length of 1057 time since the establishment of the child support award unless there is a substantial 1058 change in either parent's income and financial status or the needs of the child.

1059 (2) No petition to modify child support may be filed by either parent within a period of 1060 two years from the date of the final order on a previous petition to modify by the same 1061 parent except when:

1062 (A) A noncustodial parent has failed to exercise the court ordered visitation parenting 1063 time;

1064 (B) A noncustodial parent has exercised a greater amount of visitation parenting time 1065 than was provided in the court order; or

1066 (C) The motion to modify is based upon an involuntary loss of income as set forth in 1067 subsection (j) of this Code section.

1068 (3)(A) If there is a difference of at least 15 percent but less than 30 percent between a 1069 new award and a Georgia child support order entered prior to January 1, 2007, the court 1070 may, at its discretion, phase in the new child support award over a period of up to one 1071 year with the phasing in being largely evenly distributed with at least an initial 1072 immediate adjustment of not less than 25 percent of the difference and at least one 1073 intermediate adjustment prior to the final adjustment at the end of the phase-in period.

1074 (B) If there is a difference of 30 percent or more between a new award and a Georgia 1075 child support order entered prior to January 1, 2007, the court may, at its discretion, 1076 phase in the new child support award over a period of up to two years with the phasing 1077 in being largely evenly distributed with at least an initial immediate adjustment of not 1078 less than 25 percent of the difference and at least one intermediate adjustment prior to 1079 the final adjustment at the end of the phase-in period.

1080 (C) All child support service's case reviews and modifications shall proceed and be 1081 governed by Code Section 19-11-12. Subsequent changes to the basic child support 1082 obligation table shall be a reason to request a review for modification from child

1083 support services to the extent that such changes are consistent with the requirements of 1084 Code Section 19-11-12.

1085 (4) A petition for modification shall be filed under the same rules of procedure 1086 applicable to divorce proceedings. The court may allow, upon motion, the temporary 1087 modification of a child support order pending the final trial on the petition. An order 1088 granting temporary modification shall be subject to revision by the court at any time 1089 before the final trial. A jury may be demanded on a petition for modification but the jury 1090 shall only be responsible for determining a parent's gross income and any deviations. In 1091 the hearing upon a petition for modification, testimony may be given and evidence 1092 introduced relative to the change of circumstances, income and financial status of either 1093 parent, or in the needs of the child. After hearing both parties and the evidence, the court 1094 may modify and revise the previous judgment, in accordance with the changed 1095 circumstances, income and financial status of either parent, or in the needs of the child, 1096 if such change or changes are satisfactorily proven so as to warrant the modification and 1097 revision and such modification and revisions are in the child's best interest. The court 1098 shall enter a written order specifying the basis for the modification, if any, and shall 1099 include all of the information set forth in paragraph (2) of subsection (c) of this Code 1100 section.

1101 (5) In proceedings for the modification of a child support award pursuant to the 1102 provisions of this Code section, the court may award attorney's fees, costs, and expenses 1103 of litigation to the prevailing party as the interests of justice may require. When a 1104 custodial parent prevails in an upward modification of child support based upon the 1105 noncustodial parent's failure to be available and willing to exercise court ordered 1106 ~~visitation~~ parenting time, reasonable and necessary attorney's fees and expenses of 1107 litigation shall be awarded to the custodial parent.

1108 (1) Split parenting. In cases of split parenting, a worksheet shall be prepared separately 1109 by each custodial parent for each child for whom such parent is the custodial parent, and 1110 that worksheet shall be filed with the clerk of court. For each split parenting custodial 1111 situation, the court shall determine:

1112 (1) Which parent is the ~~obligor~~ noncustodial parent;

1113 (2) The presumptive amount of child support;

1114 (3) The actual award of child support, if different from the presumptive amount of child 1115 support;

1116 (4) How and when the sum certain amount of child support owed shall be paid; and 1117 (5) Any other child support responsibilities for each parent.

1118 (m) Worksheets.

1119 (1) Schedules and worksheets shall be prepared by the parties for purposes of calculating 1120 the amount of child support. In child support services cases in which neither parent 1121 prepared a worksheet, the court may rely on the worksheet prepared by child support 1122 services as a basis for its order. Information from the schedules shall be entered on the 1123 child support worksheet. The child support worksheets and any schedule that was 1124 prepared for the purpose of calculating the amount of child support shall be attached to 1125 the final court order or judgment; provided, however, that any order entered pursuant to 1126 Code Section 19-13-4 shall not be required to have such worksheets and schedules 1127 attached thereto.

1128 (2) The child support worksheet and schedules shall be promulgated by the Georgia 1129 Child Support Commission.

1130 (n) Child support obligation table. The child support obligation table shall be proposed 1131 by the Georgia Child Support Commission and shall be as codified in subsection (o) of this 1132 Code section.

1133 (o) Georgia Schedule of Basic Child Support Obligations Obligation Table.
