Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Idaho:

WHEREAS, Idaho historic agricultural buildings are witnesses to the role of agriculture in our state's history and economy and serve as scenic landmarks for residents and visitors alike; and

WHEREAS, historic agricultural structures across Idaho symbolize important Idaho values of heritage, hard work, productivity and an attachment to the land and the people who built them; and

WHEREAS, historic agricultural buildings uphold the historic rural qualities of Idaho's landscape, along with providing a picturesque atmosphere for the state's citizens and visitors to enjoy; and

WHEREAS, these structures provide insight into our distinctive agricultural history and heritage, as well as a visual description of rural life, both past and present, in Idaho; and

WHEREAS, the Idaho State Historical Society, the Idaho Heritage Trust, local historic preservation commissions and local historical societies across Idaho have made efforts to preserve these significant structures and make residents aware of their importance including, but not limited to, the following:

The Bear River Heritage Area's publication of "Historic Barns of Southeastern Idaho: A Self-Guided Driving Tour";

The Dry Creek Historical Society's preservation of the Schick-Ostolasa Farmstead in Ada County, which won the American Association for State and Local History Corey Award in 2009, the highest national award given in the field of state and local history to all-volunteer organizations;

The Adams County Historical Society's publication of "Meadows Valley Barns";

The Idaho Heritage Trust's assistance in preserving the 1922 log barn at the Landmark Forest Service Ranger Station in Valley County;

The Idaho State Historic Preservation Office's technical assistance in listing on the National Register of Historic Places seven barns in the Buhl area built by farmers attracted from Tillamook, along with related agricultural properties including Salmon Falls Dam, Milner Dam and the Twin Falls Main Canal; and

WHEREAS, as a result of various threats, Idaho's built agricultural environment is rapidly disappearing and with it an invaluable part of Idaho's history is also disappearing, as are opportunities for rural economic development.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the members of the Second Regular Session of the Sixtieth Idaho Legislature, the House of Representatives and the Senate concurring therein, that the work of grassroots organizations such as historical preservation commissions and historical societies, as well as the work of the Idaho State Historical Society and the Idaho Heritage Trust to preserve Idaho's agricultural history is hereby recognized and encouraged.
