HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 86

BY REPRESENTATIVE HOFFMANN

HEALTH CARE/PROVIDERS: Creates a study group to make recommendations concerning the prospective establishment of an independent health professions scope of practice review committee

1 A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

2 To create a special study group to evaluate and make recommendations concerning the 3 prospective establishment of an independent health professions scope of practice 4 review committee to be known as the "Louisiana Health Professions Institute", and 5 to require the group to report findings and recommendations to the legislature.

6 WHEREAS, services and procedures that a healthcare professional may and may not 7 deliver or perform are determined by the scope of practice for that person's profession; and

8 WHEREAS, while Louisiana's health professions are regulated by state licensing 9 boards, each such board, in turn, is created by and receives its regulatory powers from the 10 legislature, including the power to enforce a scope of practice, via the state laws which 11 provide for those boards and which the legislature may revise from time to time; and

12 WHEREAS, Title 37 of the Louisiana Revised Statutes of 1950, which encompasses 13 laws relative to professions and occupations, provides for licensure and regulation of all of 14 the following healthcare practitioners: Acupuncturists; addiction counselors; athletic 15 trainers; audiologists; behavior analysts; chiropractors; clinical exercise physiologists;
16 clinical laboratory personnel; dentists; dietitians and nutritionists; direct service workers;
17 marriage and family therapists; medical psychologists; medication attendants; mental health 18 counselors; midwives; nurses, including licensed practical nurses, registered nurses, and 19 advanced practice registered nurses; nursing facility administrators; occupational therapists;
20 optometrists; perfusionists; pharmacists, physical therapists; physician assistants; physicians;

1 podiatrists; polysomnographic health professionals; professional counselors; psychologists;
2 radiologic technologists; rehabilitation counselors; respiratory therapists; social workers; and 3 speech-language pathologists; and

4 WHEREAS, through its function as a lawmaking body, the legislature plays an 5 essential role in setting policy for all professions and occupations; however, this 6 policymaking role occurs within an inherently political context; and

7 WHEREAS, in taking up any prospective expansion, limitation, or other revision to 8 a health profession's scope of practice, the legislature must evaluate numerous 9 considerations, the most significant of which is the delicate balance between expanding 10 access to care and ensuring patient safety; and

11 WHEREAS, in the legislature, the initial duty of screening health profession scope 12 of practice proposals lies with the committees on health and welfare, which must consider 13 significant amounts of information and extensive public comments given by individuals, 14 officials, and interest groups which come before the committees to support or oppose various 15 scope of practice measures; and

16 WHEREAS, objective, reliable information is essential for any policymaking body 17 to make decisions that best serve the public interest; and

18 WHEREAS, other states seek, obtain, and process information concerning health 19 profession scope of practice proposals through special review committees; and

20 WHEREAS, notable among state scope of practice review programs is that of 21 Connecticut, which in 2009 employed the Legislative Program Review and Investigations 22 Committee, a bipartisan, statutory committee of the state's legislature, to evaluate scope of 23 practice review models of fourteen other states and make recommendations to the 24 Connecticut General Assembly, which later enacted Public Act No. 11-209 in 2011 creating 25 a scope of practice determinations program within the state's health agency that is now 26 viewed as one of the most effective programs of its type in the nation; and

27 WHEREAS, the necessity of a program or committee of this type in Louisiana has 28 been demonstrated through the legislature's experience of recent sessions of considering 29 high-profile and highly controversial scope of practice proposals affecting several health 30 professions; and

1           WHEREAS, it is clear that establishing some form of independent, nonpolitical 2 scope of practice review committee would greatly enhance the ability of legislators to make 3 the most informed and most prudent policy decisions when faced with matters so vital to the 4 well-being of Louisiana's citizens as proposals affecting the scope of practice of our state's 5 health professions.

6           THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Legislature of Louisiana does hereby 7 create a special study group to evaluate and make recommendations concerning the 8 prospective establishment of an independent health professions scope of practice review
9 committee to be known as the "Louisiana Health Professions Institute".

21 Session of the Legislature, and any other model as may be selected by members of the 23          BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the study group shall submit a written report of
