15 in the farming, banking, and oil and gas industries, as well as other business ventures; and

16 WHEREAS, Mr. Lawton's first love was Lawton Ranch in Choupique, Louisiana, 17 of which he was co-owner and he relished the day-to-day business of ranching; and

18 WHEREAS, the Lawton family owned Calcasieu Marine National Bank and the

1 operating company was William T. Burton Industries, which was eventually divided into two 2 companies, one of which was Jack Lawton, L.L.C; and

3 WHEREAS, Jack Lawton remained president of the company until earlier this 4 century, when he relinquished the business to his son and concentrated solely on the ranch;
5 and

6 WHEREAS, Mr. Lawton was known as a generous philanthropist, giving generously
7 to both McNeese State University in Lake Charles and Louisiana State University in Baton 8 Rouge; and

9 WHEREAS, in 1983 Jack Lawton was one of the founders and major financial 10 supporters of the first Louisiana chapter of the Coastal Conservation Association, a non-11 profit organization that is dedicated to the conservation and preservation of Louisiana's 12 marine and animal life and to conserve, promote and enhance the present and future 13 availability of these coastal resources for the benefit and enjoyment of the general public;
14 and

15 WHEREAS, more than thirty-three years later, the Coastal Conservation Association 16 in Louisiana is an organization that has grown to nearly twenty thousand members across 17 the state; and

18 WHEREAS, Mr. Lawton was also one of the founders and a key financial supporter 19 of the Center for Coastal Conservation which is a coalition of leading advocates for marine 20 recreational fishing and boating dedicated to promoting sound conservation and use of ocean 21 resources by supporting federal legislators who support its goals; and

22 WHEREAS, Jack Lawton was a devoted family man and he leaves his wife, Dorothy 23 "Coonie" Sonnier Lawton, his son Jack Lawton Jr. and his wife Holly Bugg Lawton and four 24 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren to treasure their memories of a loving father, 25 grandfather and great-grandfather; and

26 WHEREAS, Mr. Lawton was an ardent sportsman and he enjoyed hunting and 27 fishing both in Louisiana, the Southern United States, and around the world; and

28 WHEREAS, the theme of all of Jack Lawton's activities in his life was that of a man 29 who was dedicated to his family and to improving his community, never shirking anything 30 that he saw as his duty as a person committed to education, dedicated to the conservation of
