An Act increasing parental involvement with childcare.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Section 28 of Chapter 208 of the General Laws, as so appearing, is hereby 2 amended by inserting at the end of the first paragraph the following:— When the court makes an 3 order or judgment for maintenance or support of a child or children hereunder, the court shall 4 determine whether childcare services are deemed necessary by the custodial parent and whether 5 the non-custodial parent is available and capable of providing all or part of said childcare. If the 6 court determines that the non-custodial parent is available, capable, and desirous of providing all 7 or part of said childcare for the child or children for whom support is ordered, the court shall 8 include in its order provisions allowing the non-custodial parent the right to provide such child
9 care. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorize entry by the non-custodial parent into 10 the home of the custodial parent for the purposes of childcare. A change in the availability of the

11 non-custodial parent to provide childcare shall constitute a material and substantial change in 12 circumstances for purposes of modification of existing judgments.

13 SECTION 2. Section 9 of Chapter 209C of the General Laws, as so appearing, is hereby 14 amended by inserting at the end of subsection (a) the following:— When the court makes an 15 order or judgment for maintenance or support of a child or children, said court shall determine 16 whether day care services are deemed necessary by the custodial parent and whether the non-17 custodial parent is available, capable, and desirous of providing all or part of said child care.
18 When the court has determined that the non-custodial parent is available, capable, and desirous 19 of providing child care for the child or children for whom support is ordered, the court shall 20 include in its orders provisions allowing the non-custodial parent the right to provide said child
21 care. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorize entry by the non-custodial parent into 22 the home of the custodial parent for the purposes of childcare. A change in the availability of the 23 non-custodial parent to provide childcare shall constitute a material and substantial change in 24 circumstances for purposes of modification of existing judgments. Ch. 208, sec. 28 refers to 25 support orders as part of divorce. Ch. 209C, see 9 refers to support orders for children born out 26 of wedlock.
