The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the One Hundred and Ninety-First General Court (2019-2020)

An Act rescinding an order terminating parental rights.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Section 3 of chapter 210 of the General Laws, as appearing in the 2016
2 Official Edition, is hereby amended by adding the following subsection:-

3 (e) For the purposes of this subsection, the term “child” shall include a young adult as 4 defined in section 21 of chapter 119. If at least two years have passed since the court entered an 5 order terminating parental rights pursuant to this chapter or chapter 119, a child whose parents 6 were the subject of that order may file a motion requesting that the court vacate the order with 7 respect to 1 or both of the child’s former parents, but only if all of the following apply: (i) the 8 child is at least 12 years of age; (ii) the court has determined, after a hearing under section 29B 9 of chapter 119, that adoption is no longer the permanency plan for the child; and (iii) either the 10 child has not been adopted or, if the child has been adopted, a court has entered an order

11 terminating the parental rights of the child's adoptive parents or the adoptive parents have 12 voluntarily surrendered their parental rights. The child shall sign the motion in the absence of a 13 showing of good cause as to why the child is unable to sign the motion. The court shall order that 14 an evidentiary hearing be held and provide notice, in the manner prescribed for a petition filed
15 pursuant to section 24 of chapter 119, of the hearing to the child's former parents. Neither parent 16 shall be considered a party for the purpose of the motion, nor shall either have an independent 17 right to be heard, though a parent's testimony may be offered into evidence if the parent is called 18 as a witness by a party. The court shall grant the motion if it determines by a preponderance of 19 evidence that vacating the order terminating parental rights is in the child's best interests. The 20 court shall specify in writing the factual basis for its determination. As soon as practicable after 21 granting the motion, the court shall enter an order pursuant to subsection (b) of section 26 of 22 chapter 119, provided that the order is in the best interests of the child.

23 SECTION 2. Section 1 of this act shall apply regardless of whether the two year 24 requirement is met before, on, or after the effective date of this act.
