The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the Year Two Thousand Eleven

An Act valuing our natural resources.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1 Section 1. Chapter 131 of the Massachusetts General Laws is hereby amended by striking the 2 first and second paragraphs of Section 80A in their entirety and inserting in place thereof the 3 following:

4

5 Section 80A. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, a person shall not use, set, 6 place or maintain any trap for the purpose of capturing furbearing mammals, except for common
7 type mouse and rat traps, nets, and box or cage type traps, as otherwise permitted by law. A box 8 or cage type trap is one that confines the whole animal without grasping any part of the animal,
9 including Hancock or Bailey’s type live trap for beavers. Other than nets and common type 10 mouse or rat traps, traps designed to capture and hold a furbearing mammal by gripping the

11 mammal's body, or body part are prohibited, including steel jaw leghold traps, padded leghold 12 traps, and snares.

13 The above provision shall not apply to the use of prohibited devices by federal and state 14 departments of health, wildlife management agencies or divisions or municipal boards of health 15 for the purpose of protection from threats to human health and safety or for the management of 16 furbearing wildlife during their established regulated seasons. The uses of prohibited devices are 17 subject to the regulations and restrictions promulgated by the Massachusetts Division of 18 Fisheries & Wildlife. A threat to human health and safety may include, but shall not be limited 19 to:
