Section 148I. Whenever facts exist showing that an employer has failed to comply with sections 27, 27F, 27G, 27H, 148, 148A, 148B, 148C, 150, 150C, or 152A of this chapter, or subsection (c) or (d) of section 159C of this chapter, or sections 1, 1A, 1B, 2A, 7, 19 or 20 of chapter 151, relative to wage theft, as that term is defined in section 148 of this chapter, then any 3 current or former employees may bring a civil action for wage theft.

(a) At least ninety days prior to bringing a civil action under this subsection, the 3 persons shall provide a written demand for relief, identifying the claimant and reasonably describing the alleged wage theft and the injury suffered, by certified mail, return receipt requested, to their employer. Any employer receiving such a demand for relief who, within thirty days of the mailing or delivery of the demand for relief, makes a written tender of settlement which is rejected by the claimant may, in any subsequent action, file the written tender and an affidavit concerning its rejection and thereby limit any recovery to the relief tendered if the court finds that the relief tendered was reasonable in relation to the injury actually suffered by the petitioner. After the expiration of thirty days after delivery of the notice to the employer and any other prospective defendant, the 3 current or former employees may file a civil action for wage theft.

- (b) Any person receiving a demand for relief for lost wages who, within thirty days of the mailing or delivery of the demand for relief, makes a written tender of settlement which is rejected by the claimant may, in any subsequent action, file the written tender and an affidavit concerning its rejection and thereby limit any recovery to the relief tendered if the court finds that the relief tendered was reasonable in relation to the injury actually suffered by the claimant. If a full settlement is offered and rejected, the person offering the settlement would have an affirmative defense and should be entitled to attorney's fees and costs.
- (c) If the court dismisses an action brought pursuant to this section, then the court may award to an employer or any other defendant reasonable attorneys' fees and costs. If the court makes a finding that any action brought pursuant to this section was frivolous, an employer or any other defendant shall be entitled to an additional one times its reasonable attorneys' fees and costs as liquated damages.

(d) In any action brought pursuant to this section, Plaintiffs shall prove any violation of this chapter by a preponderance of the evidence. An employer or any other defendant shall be liable for all amounts which should have been paid by the employer.

- (e) If the court dismisses an action brought pursuant to this section or Section 150 of this chapter, then the court may award to the defendant reasonable attorneys' fees and costs. If the court makes a finding that the action was frivolous, the defendant shall be entitled to an additional one times reasonable attorneys' fees and costs awarded as liquidated damages.
- (f) Impossibility of performance, not caused by or a result of a violation of law, shall be an affirmative defense for an employer in any action alleging a violation of this chapter.
- (g) Actions under this subsection shall be commenced within 3 years after the cause of action accrues.
- SECTION 4. Section 150C of said chapter 149, as appearing in the 2016 Official Edition, is hereby amended by striking out, in line 9, the words "one thousand dollars," and inserting in place thereof the following words: $1,000 or shall be subject to a civil citation or order as provided in section 27C.
- SECTION 5. This act shall supersede any municipal ordinance regarding wage and hour laws.
- SECTION 6. This act shall take effect on July 1, 2023.
