No panel member may receive reimbursement from any other panel member for any costs incurred as a result of assignment of interim primary case management responsibility by the child advocate under this section.

The designated agency shall remain the primary case manager until an alternative agreement is entered into or until the child no longer qualifies for services.

The cost-sharing agreement shall remain in effect until the child advocate is informed in writing that an alternative cost-sharing agreement or a payment agreement has been entered into or until the child no longer qualifies for services.

Any assignment of responsibility by the child advocate under this subsection shall have no prejudicial value at the bureau of special education appeals or the division of administrative law appeals. If a civil, criminal or administrative legal body makes a determination that is contrary to the assignment of responsibility by the child advocate under this section, the child advocate shall align responsibility allocation in accordance with the decision of the legal body. No panel member shall be entitled to reimbursement from any other panel member for any costs incurred as a result of an assignment of responsibility imposed by the child advocate under this section.

Panel decisions under this subsection shall be issued to the parent or legal guardian, and the individual who referred the case to the panel if such person is not the parent or legal guardian, in writing not later than 3 business days after the decision and shall include the basis for the decision, the basis for the denial of services, if any, and information regarding rights to further review or appeal of a decision.

(e) If the parent or legal guardian of the child disputes the decision of the panel under subsection (d), the parent or legal guardian may file an appeal with the division of administrative law appeals, which shall conduct an adjudicatory proceeding and order any necessary relief consistent with state or federal law, as applicable.

(f) If a local educational authority disputes the decision of the panel under subsection (d), the local educational authority may file an appeal with the division of administrative law appeals, which shall conduct an adjudicatory proceeding and order any necessary relief consistent with state or federal law if the local educational authority has demonstrated that the decision of the panel violates state or federal law, as applicable.
