~~WHEREAS, In Maryland, children may still be held responsible for their parents' expenses without any contractual agreement to be held liable; and~~

~~WHEREAS, Parents are able to incur bills and expenses without their children having a say, but when the bill comes due, the children may be legally responsible for payment; and~~

~~WHEREAS, Under Title 16, Subtitles 1 and 2 of the Health — General Article of the Annotated Code of Maryland, Maryland's filial law that relates to recipients of services in a facility or program operated or funded by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, when a parent is under the care of a State psychiatric hospital and is under age 65, children may be required to reimburse the State for the parent's care out of their monthly income, leaving the children with a bare monthly allowance; and~~

~~WHEREAS, Current Maryland law requires adult children to pay for food, shelter, care, and clothing for a destitute parent even though the children are unable to control what expenses their parents incur; and~~

~~WHEREAS, Adult children may be held liable for medical expenses of an indigent parent even though the children have no control over the parent's finances; and~~

~~WHEREAS, Children are unable to compel a parent to purchase long term care insurance or to save for future expenses; and~~

~~WHEREAS, A parent's failure to exercise sound financial discretion should not result in a burden on the parent's children; now, therefore,~~
