24 limited to, groups based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin;

25 (8) "Qualified beneficiary", a first-time business owner, designated by an account
26 holder, for whose eligible expenses the moneys in a first-time business owner savings
27 account are or will be used.

443.1014. 1. Beginning January 1, 2021, any individual may open an account with 2 a financial institution and designate the account, in its entirety, as a first-time business

3 owner savings account to be used to pay or reimburse a qualified beneficiary's eligible
4 expenses for starting a new business. An individual may be the account holder of multiple 5 accounts, and an individual may jointly own the account with another person if such
6 persons file a joint income tax return. To be eligible for the tax deduction under section
7 143.1155, an account holder shall comply with the requirements of this section.

8 2. An account holder shall designate, no later than April fifteenth of the year
9 following the tax year in which the account was established, a first-time business owner as 10 the qualified beneficiary of the first-time business owner savings account. The account
11 holder may designate himself or herself as the qualified beneficiary. The account holder
12 may change the designated qualified beneficiary at any time, but no first-time business
13 owner savings account shall have more than one qualified beneficiary at any time. No 14 account holder shall have multiple accounts with the same qualified beneficiary, but an 15 individual may be designated as the qualified beneficiary of multiple accounts.

16 3. (1) The following limits apply to a first-time business owner savings account:

17 (a) The maximum contribution to a first-time business owner savings account is one
18 thousand six hundred dollars per year for an individual and three thousand two hundred 19 dollars per year for account holders who file a joint tax return;

20 (b) The maximum amount of all contributions for all tax years to a first-time
21 business owner savings account is twenty thousand dollars; and

22 (c) The maximum balance of a first-time business owner savings account is thirty
23 thousand dollars;

24 (2) If a limit in subdivision (1) of this subsection is exceeded, then thereafter no
25 interest or other income earned on the investment of moneys in the first-time business
26 owner savings account shall be included in the tax deduction under section 143.1155; and

27 (3) Moneys may remain in a first-time business owner savings account for an 28 unlimited duration without the interest or income being subject to recapture or penalty.

29 4. The account holder shall not use moneys in an account to pay expenses of 30 administering the account, except that a service fee may be deducted from the account by 31 a financial institution. The account holder shall be responsible for maintaining 32 documentation for the first-time business owner savings account and for eligible expenses
33 related to the qualified beneficiary starting a new business.

443.1015. 1. (1) For purposes of the tax benefit conferred under the first-time
2 business owner savings account act, the moneys in a first-time business owner savings
3 account may be:

4 (a) Used for eligible expenses related to a qualified beneficiary starting a new
5 business located in this state;

6 (b) Used for eligible expenses related to a qualified beneficiary starting a new 7 business located outside this state if the qualified beneficiary is active-duty military and
8 was stationed in Missouri for any time after the creation of the account;

9 (c) Transferred to another newly created first-time business owner savings account;

10 and

11 (d) Used to pay a service fee that is deducted by the financial institution.

12 (2) Subdivision (1) of this subsection applies whether the qualified beneficiary is 13 the sole owner of the new business or a joint owner with another person who does not
14 qualify as a qualified beneficiary.

15 2. Moneys withdrawn from a first-time business owner savings account shall be 16 subject to recapture in the tax year in which they are withdrawn if:

17 (1) At the time of the withdrawal, it has been less than a year since the first deposit
18 in the first-time business owner savings account; or

19 (2) The moneys are used for any purpose other than those specified under 20 subsection 1 of this section.

22 The recapture shall be an amount equal to the moneys withdrawn and shall be added to 23 the Missouri adjusted gross income of the account holder or, if the account holder is not 24 living, the qualified beneficiary.

25 3. If any moneys are subject to recapture under subsection 2 of this section, the 26 account holder shall pay to the department a penalty in the same tax year as the recapture.
27 If the withdrawal was made ten or fewer years after the first deposit in the first-time
28 business owner savings account, the penalty shall be equal to five percent of the amount
29 subject to recapture, and, if the withdrawal was made more than ten years after the first 30 deposit in the account, the penalty shall be equal to ten percent of the amount subject to 31 recapture. These penalties shall not apply if:

32 (1) The withdrawn moneys are used for eligible expenses related to a qualified 33 beneficiary starting a new business outside of the state; or

34 (2) The withdrawn moneys are from a first-time business owner savings account
35 for which the qualified beneficiary died, and the account holder does not designate a new 36 qualified beneficiary during the same tax year.

37 4. If the account holder dies or, if the first-time business owner savings account is 38 jointly owned, the account holders die and the account does not have a surviving transfer
39 on death beneficiary, then all of the moneys in the account that were used for a tax
40 deduction under section 143.1155 shall be subject to recapture in the tax year of the death
41 or deaths, but no penalty shall be due to the department.

443.1016. 1. The department shall establish forms for an account holder to annually report information about a first-time business owner savings account including, but not limited to, how the moneys withdrawn from the fund are used, and shall identify any supporting documentation that is required to be maintained. To be eligible for the tax deduction under section 143.1155, an account holder shall annually file with the account holder's state income tax return all forms required by the department under this section, any Internal Revenue Service Form 1099 Series forms for the account issued by the financial institution, and any other supporting documentation the department requires.

2. The department may promulgate rules and regulations necessary to administer the provisions of the first-time business owner savings account act. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536 and, if applicable, section 536.028. This section and chapter 536 are nonseverable, and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536 to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2020, shall be invalid and void.

443.1017. 1. No financial institution shall be required to:

(1) Designate an account as a first-time business owner savings account or designate the beneficiaries of an account in the financial institution's account contracts or systems or in any other way;

(2) Track the use of moneys withdrawn from a first-time business owner savings account; or

(3) Report any information to the department or any other governmental agency that is not otherwise required by law.

2. No financial institution shall be responsible or liable for:

(1) Determining or ensuring that an account holder is eligible for a tax deduction under section 143.1155;

(2) Determining or ensuring that moneys in the account are used for eligible expenses; or

(3) Reporting or remitting taxes or penalties related to use of moneys in a first-time business owner savings account.

3. In implementing section 143.1155 and sections 443.1011 to 443.1017, the department shall not establish any administrative, reporting, or other requirements on financial institutions that are outside the scope of normal account procedures.
