It is the purpose of [sections 1 through 6] to provide for the public health, safety, and welfare by ensuring the ethical, qualified, and professional practice of genetic counseling. [Sections 1 through 6] and the rules promulgated under [section 3] set standards of qualification, education, training, and experience and establish professional ethics for those who seek to engage in the practice of genetic counseling as licensed genetic counselors.

Section 4. Representation or practice as genetic counselor -- license required. (1) On issuance of a license under [sections 1 through 6], a licensee may use the title "licensed genetic counselor".

(2) Except as otherwise provided in [sections 1 through 6], a person may not represent that the person is a licensed genetic counselor by using the title "genetic counselor", "licensed genetic counselor", "gene counselor", "genetic consultant", "genetic associate", or any words, letters, abbreviations, or insignia indicating or implying a person holds a genetic counseling license unless the person is licensed under [sections 1 through 6].

(3) [Sections 1 through 6] do not apply to:

(a) a person licensed by the state as a physician or advanced practice registered nurse or to practice in a profession other than that of genetic counseling when acting within the scope of the person's profession and doing work of a nature consistent with the person's training as long as the person does not represent by title that the person is engaging in the practice of genetic counseling;

(b) any person employed as a genetic counselor by the federal government or an agency of the federal government if the person provides genetic counseling services solely under the direction and control of the organization that is employing the person;

(c) a student or intern enrolled in a genetic counseling educational program accredited by the American board of genetic counseling if the person is designated by the title "genetic counseling intern" and the genetic counseling services performed are:

 - (c) complies with other requirements established by the department by rule.
- (2) The department may issue:
- (a) a temporary license to an applicant to whom the American board of genetic counseling has granted active candidate status; and
 - (b) a license to an applicant who satisfactorily demonstrates that the applicant is licensed or registered under the laws of another state, territory, or jurisdiction of the United States that in the department's opinion imposes substantially the same requirements for licensure as are required under [sections 1 through 6].
- (3) A temporary license expires automatically on the earliest of the following:
- (a) issuance of a full license to a person who successfully passes the American board of genetic counseling certification exam; or
 - (b) at the time a person loses active candidate status for failure to complete or pass the American board of genetic counseling certification exam.

- (5) An applicant shall submit an application fee in the amount established by the department by rule and a written application on a form provided by the department that demonstrates the applicant has completed the eligibility requirements and competency standards required under [sections 1 through 6] and by the department by rule.

(6) The department may not license an applicant who has:

(e) explaining the clinical implications of genetic laboratory tests and their results;

(f) evaluating the client's or family's responses to the genetic or medical condition or the risk of recurrence of the condition and providing client-centered counseling and anticipatory guidance;

(g) identifying and using community resources that provide medical, educational, financial, and psychosocial support and advocacy; and

(h) providing written documentation of medical, genetic, and counseling information for families and health care professionals.

(2) Nothing in [sections 1 through 6] authorizes a genetic counselor to practice medicine, including treatment or medical management of a patient. If, in the course of providing genetic counseling to a client, a genetic counselor finds any indication of a disease or condition that requires medical assessment or treatment, the genetic counselor shall refer the client to a provider licensed to practice medicine.
