Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Existing law provides that, subject to certain exceptions, an owner of a single-family residence who suffers actual damages as a result of the acts or omissions of a residential contractor who is licensed by the State Contractors' Board may be eligible to recover damages from the Recovery Fund administered by the Board. (NRS 624.400-624.560)

Section 1 of this bill defines "single-family residence" for the purpose of establishing eligibility to recover damages from the Recovery Fund.

Existing law provides that an injured person who has obtained a judgment against a residential contractor for an eligible claim: (1) may apply to the Board for satisfaction of the judgment; and (2) upon obtaining payment from the Recovery Fund, assigns to the Board his or her rights to enforce the judgment. (NRS 624.490)

Section 4 of this bill provides that: (1) such an assignment is limited to the amount

13 of the injured person's payment from the Recovery Fund; and (2) the injured person
14 retains all other applicable rights.

15 Section 5 of this bill increases the amount of an administrative fine which the 16 Board may impose upon a residential contractor for failure to notify an owner with 17 whom the contractor contracts of the rights of the owner relating to the Recovery
18 Fund.

19 Sections 2, 3, 6 and 7 of this bill make conforming changes to indicate the
