

Senate Bill No. 63–Committee on Commerce, Labor and Energy

CHAPTER.....

AN ACT relating to industrial insurance; establishing provisions for the collection of certain amounts owed to the Division of Industrial Relations of the Department of Business and Industry for payments from the Uninsured Employers' Claim Account; revising provisions governing the penalty for failure to provide mandatory industrial insurance; prohibiting certain conduct by persons who fail to pay certain amounts owed to the Division; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

Sections 1 and 5 of this bill establish a process whereby the Division of Industrial Relations of the Department of Business and Industry may apply for the entry of summary judgment against an employer who fails to pay to the Division an amount owed for payments from the Uninsured Employers' Claim Account which were paid on behalf of that employer. Sections 1 and 5 also provide that, upon entry of summary judgment, the Division may record the summary judgment with the recorder of any county and the judgment constitutes a lien against all real and personal property of the employer that is located in the county. The duration of the lien is 6 years, and the lien may be extended for additional 6-year periods. Section 7 of this bill provides that the provisions of sections 1 and 5 apply to certain amounts owed to the Division on or after July 1, 2011.

Existing law provides general penalties for failure to comply with the provisions of law governing the provision of industrial insurance, including, without limitation, the imposition of an administrative fine of not more than $15,000 for failure to provide and maintain mandatory coverage. (NRS 616D.120, 616D.200) Section 2 of this bill deletes a redundant provision that authorized the imposition of an administrative fine of $10,000 against an employer who failed to provide such coverage.

Section 4 of this bill prohibits the owner of a business that owes money to the Division for certain unpaid administrative fines, benefit penalties, unpaid premiums or interest or payments from the Uninsured Employers' Claim Account from becoming, or inducing or procuring another person to become, the owner of a similar business and prohibits a person from knowingly aiding or abetting such conduct. A person who commits such a violation is liable for the costs associated with investigating and acting upon that conduct. Section 4 also revises provisions which prohibit a private carrier from knowingly insuring any business which engages in such conduct by expanding the prohibition to apply to the following insurers: (1) a self-insured employer; (2) an association of self-insured public employers; (3) an association of self-insured private employers; and (4) a private carrier.
