A BILL

To posthumously award a Congressional gold medal to Justin Smith Morrill, United States Senator of the State of Vermont, in recognition of his lasting contributions to higher education opportunity for all Americans.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

2 This Act may be cited as the “Justin Smith Morrill
3 Congressional Gold Medal Act”.

4 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

5 The Congress finds that:

6 (1) Justin Smith Morrill, the son of a black-
7 smith and farmer, was born in Strafford, Vermont, 8 on April 14, 1810. He prospered as a merchant and 9 businessman in his early years and served in public
10 office the remainder of his life.

11 (2) Morrill, the longest serving Member of Con-
12 gress in the Nineteenth Century and Chairman of 13 the Committee on Ways and Means in the United 14 States House of Representatives and the Committee
15 on Finance in the United States Senate, served 5
16 terms in the United States House of Representa-
17 tives, from 1854 to 1869, and 6 terms in the United 18 States Senate, from 1872 to 1898.

19 (3) Morrill, inspired by his own lack of public
20 education opportunity beyond his fifteenth birthday,
21 proposed legislation that would set aside public lands
22 to be sold by the states to create and fund State-
23 run colleges.

24 (4) Congress enacted the First Morrill Act (7 25 U.S.C. 301 et seq.) on July 2, 1862, marking the 26 genesis of the national focus on higher education in

1 the United States through the establishment of the 2 land-grant institutions.

3 (5) Congress enacted the Second Morrill Act (7
4 U.S.C. 321 et seq.) on August 30, 1890, estab-
5 lishing what is now a flourishing system of histori-
6 cally Black land-grant colleges and universities
7 across the nation.

8 (6) Land-grant and other public research uni-
9 versities today award nearly 1,000,000 degrees an-10 nually and perform more than $37,000,000,000 of 11 research for improving the lives of Americans.

12 (7) In 1864, Morrill introduced House Joint
13 Resolution 66 which created the National Statuary
14 Hall from the Old Hall of the U.S. House of Rep-
15 resentatives and authorized the President of the 16 United States to invite States to submit two statues
17 of worthy citizens to be exhibited, which continues as 18 a daily inspiration to the thousands of visitors to the 19 United States Capitol.

20 (8) As chairman of the Committee on Buildings
21 and Grounds, Morrill served as principal advocate
22 for the construction and financing of the Thomas
23 Jefferson Building of the Library of Congress; for 24 inviting Frederick Law Olmstead to design the 25 present landscape of the Capitol; for planning the lo-

1 cation of the United States Supreme Court Building;
2 for raising funds to complete the Washington Monu-
3 ment; and for championing the Smithsonian Institu-
4 tion.

5 (9) In delivering his last speech as Senator just 6 two weeks before his death, Morrill noted that the 7 location of the United States Supreme Court in close
8 proximity to the United States Capitol and the Li-
9 brary of Congress “would form a harmonious group
10 of large public structures on Capitol Hill of un-11 equaled grandeur, and will be appreciated by the 12 American people forever”.

13 (10) In his 1882 book “Self-Consciousness of 14 Noted Persons”, Morrill concluded, “The spur to ac-
15 quire some future reputation, to be earned by con-
16 scious fidelity, keeps the work of men always at its 17 best, the mechanic at the top of his skill, the mer-
18 chant ever mindful of the upright and downright in 19 trade; the pulpit and the bar it pushes on to effort
20 and to eloquence; it makes the soldier brave in bat-
21 tle, the politician ashamed not be a patriot, and the 22 statesman unwilling to give up to party what was 23 meant for mankind.”.

24 (11) After Morrill died on December 28, 1898,
25 eulogies extolled Morrill’s leadership, integrity and

1 good-will, including the comments of Senator George
2 Graham Vest of Missouri who stated, “If all those 3 to whom he did acts of kindness could whisper
4 across his grave, it would make an anthem sweeter
5 and more sonorous than any that ever pealed
6 through cathedral aisle” and those of Senator
7 George Hoar of Massachusetts who recalled that 8 Justin Morrill, “knew in his youth the veterans of 9 the Revolution and the generation who declared
10 independence and framed the Constitution. He knew 11 the whole history of his country from the time of her 12 independence, partly from the lips of those who 13 shaped it, partly because of the large share he had 14 in it himself.”.

18 displayed elsewhere, particularly at other appro-
19 priate locations associated with the life of Justin 20 Smith Morrill.

22 The Secretary may strike and sell duplicates in

1 materials, dies, use of machinery, and overhead expenses,
