11 further education and careers in current or emerging
12 professions;

13 (2) career and technical education provides 14 technical skill proficiency, an industry-recognized
15 credential, a certificate, or an associate degree;

16 (3) career and technical education includes 17 competency-based applied learning which contributes 18 to the academic knowledge, higher-order reasoning
19 and problem-solving skills, work attitudes, general
20 employability skills, technical skills, occupation-spe-
21 cific skills, and knowledge of all aspects of an indus-
22 try, including entrepreneurship, of an individual;

23 (4) employment opportunities provided through 24 recognized postsecondary credentials (as defined in 25 section 3 of the Workforce Innovation and Oppor-
26 tunity Act (29 U.S.C. 3102)) are as important to

1 the advancement of the economy of the United
2 States as any other domestic business sector;

3 (5) career and technical professions are desir-
4 able and often high-skill, high-wage occupations; and

5 (6) career and technical education provides in-
6 dividuals with just as competitive and practical of a
7 career path as attending a traditional four-year col-
8 lege or university.
