

118TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 5553

To extend Federal recognition to the Patawomeck Indian Tribe of Virginia, and for other purposes.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

SEPTEMBER 18, 2023

Ms. SPANBERGER (for herself, Mrs. KIGGANS of Virginia, and Ms. WEXTON) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Natural Resources

A BILL

To extend Federal recognition to the Patawomeck Indian Tribe of Virginia, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Patawomeck Indian 5 Tribe of Virginia Federal Recognition Act”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 Congress finds as follows:

8 (1) The Patawomeck, or Patawomeke, Tribe,
9 also referred to as the Potomac Tribe, Potomac
10 Band, Patamacks, and White Oakers was situated in

1 and around Indian Point and Pasapatanzy in what 2 are now Stafford and King George Counties, Vir-
3 ginia, and occupied a prominent place in the docu-4 mented history of the first half-century of European 5 contact with the Native Virginians.

6 (2) In 1608, Captain John Smith visited the 7 village of Patawomeke between Potomac and 8 Accokeek Creeks. The population of the Tribe was 9 estimated at about 800, with 160 bowmen. Around 10 this same time, Smith also visited and recorded the 11 Patawomeck villages at Passapatanzy, Quiyough,
12 and other small Patawomeck hamlets in the area.

13 (3) In 1610, Japazaw, brother of the 14 Patawomeck weroance, related the Patawomeck cre-
15 ation story to Captain Samuel Argall, the only sur-
16 viving Virginia Algonquian creation story recorded
17 by the English.

18 (4) In 1642, Patawomeck weroance,
19 Wahanganoche, and his family were baptized into 20 the Christian faith by Father Andrew White.

21 (5) In 1662, Wahanganoche was issued a silver
22 badge by the King of England to wear for safety
23 when traveling across English lands and as an ac-24 knowledgement of Patawomeck sovereignty. The 25 weroance was acquitted of charges of high treason

1 and murder brought against him by Captain Giles
2 Brent at the General Assembly in James City that 3 year, but died on his way home, or shortly after his 4 arrival.

5 (6) In July 1666, the General Council of Vir-
6 ginia declared war on the Patawomecks. Most of the 7 men were killed and most of the women and chil-
8 dren, who were not already living in English fami-9 lies, were captured as slaves. Others likely joined 10 with nearby existing Indian groups such as the 11 Doegs, Nanzaticos, and Portobagos.

12 (7) In 1680, King Pattanochus signs the Treas-13 ty of Middle Plantation of behalf of the 14 “Nansatiocoes, Nanzemunds, and Portabacchoes”.
15 By this time, displaced Patawomecks are living
16 among these groups of people.

17 (8) In 1692, A reference to payment for Rang-18 ers in Stafford County notes the presence of “two 19 Indians belonging to Stafford” in the detachment, il-20 lustrating the continued presence within the area of 21 Patawomeck ancestors.

22 (9) Through most of the 1700s the 23 Patawomeck community lived in the Northern Neck, 24 moving as necessary. Portions of the community set-

1 tled near the area known as Indian Town in mod-
2 ern-day King George County.

3 (10) In 1789, White Oak church was estab-
4 lished. This church, which still stands, became a sig-
5 nificant space that facilitated the continued inter-
6 action of members of the Patawomeck community
7 who attended well into the 1900s and used the reg-
8 ular meeting opportunities as venues to pass down
9 and maintain Tribal knowledge and traditions, meet
10 suitable Patawomeck marriage partners, and con-
11 duct business in formal and informal ways. Genera-
12 tions of Patawomeck ancestors account for the vast 13 majority of the interments in the cemetery, including 14 members with the surnames of Newton, Green, Cur-
15 tis, Jett, and Monteith.

16 (11) By the early 1800s, the majority of the 17 Patawomeck community had again coalesced in the 18 area of Stafford County known as White Oak, with 19 some members living in nearby Passapatanzy, in 20 King George County, only a few miles from the loca-21 tions of their ancestral villages, dating back to the 22 1300s.

23 (12) In 1832, Wahanganoche's badge was 24 found at Camden, in Caroline County, a well-known 25 location of coalescent Indian communities and the

1 likely location of a portion of the Patawomeck com-
2 munity in the late 1600s.

3 (13) During the United States Civil War, van-
4 dalism, courthouse fires, and other disasters destroy
5 many of the records within the Stafford and King 6 George County courthouses, serving to reduce the 7 archival footprint of the Patawomecks within their 8 historic areas of habitation.

9 (14) In the late 1910s and 1920s, the anthro-
10 pologist Frank Speck, visited the Patawomeck com-11 munity to take photographs, conduct interviews, and 12 collect objects related to Indigenous heritage, noting 13 that the “northern divisions of the [Powhatan] Con-
14 federacy are represented by descendants on Potomac
15 Creek in King George county . . .”. Since this time, 16 partnerships have existed between the Tribe and re-
17 searchers from institutions such as the Smithsonian
18 Institution, the University of Pennsylvania, the Col-19 lege of William and Mary, American University, the 20 University of Mary Washington, and Santa Clara
21 University.

22 (15) In 1924, Virginia passed the Racial Integ-
23 rity Act which removed the category of Indian iden-
24 tity from official records. Instead, all people were re-
25 quired to be identified as White or colored. This law,

1 in addition to other aspects of the racialized society
2 that existed in Virginia starting in the late 1600s,
3 effectively erased Virginia Indians from the official 4 records of the Commonwealth until the middle of the 5 1900s, amounting to a paper genocide.

6 (16) In the 1930s and 1940s, at least 722
7 Patawomeck ancestors were taken from their graves 8 under the guise of archaeological research. Many of 9 these ancestors were discarded by the excavators.
10 The remainder, numbering well over 200 individuals,
11 are currently held by the Smithsonian Institution.

12 (17) In 1954, Elizabeth Newton of the 13 Patawomecks married O.T. Custalow, Chief of the 14 Mattaponis.

15 (18) In 1996, the contemporary and formal re-
16 organization of the Patawomeck Tribe took place
17 with the adoption of a written constitution.

18 (19) In 2006, in partnership with linguists the 19 Patawomecks began to work on reconstructing their 20 native Algonquin language and sharing it with other 21 Tribes and fellow Virginians. Since that time the 22 Patawomecks have taught, transcribed, greatly en-
23 hanced the common Algonquin dictionary, and edu-
24 cated hundreds of Virginians in classroom settings.
