IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

DECEMBER 10, 2018

Mr. TONKO introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Natural Resources, and in addition to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned

A BILL

To direct the Secretary of the Interior to establish a nonregulatory program to support restoration and protection efforts in the Hudson-Mohawk River Basin region, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Hudson-Mohawk River
5 Basin Act”.

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 Congress finds the following:

1 (1) The Hudson-Mohawk River Basin together
2 with the Erie Canal connects the Great Lakes to the 3 Atlantic Ocean and includes the approximately 4 13,400 square mile area encompassing the following
5 five large sub-basins:

6 (A) The Upper Hudson River sub-basin.

7 (B) The Mohawk River sub-basin.

8 (C) The Lower Hudson River sub-basin.

9 (D) The Passaic River sub-basin.

10 (E) The Raritan River sub-basin.

11 (2) The Hudson-Mohawk River Basin includes 12 the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area, which 13 is the largest metropolitan area of the country. This 14 metropolitan area, together with the many commu-
15 nities in the Upper Hudson, Mohawk, and Lower 16 Hudson sub-basins, makes the area one of the most 17 densely and heavily populated river basins in the 18 country, with over 15,000,000 people.

19 (3) The water resources of the Hudson-Mohawk
20 River Basin are functionally interrelated and their 21 uses are interdependent. A dedicated program is es-
22 sential to provide effective communication, coordina-
23 tion, and cooperation among Federal, State, and 24 local governments, nongovernmental organizations,
25 and the private sector.

1 (4) The New York-New Jersey Harbor Estuary
2 is a complex natural harbor at the junction of three
3 major water bodies, the New York Bight, the Hud-
4 son River, and the Long Island Sound. In addition,
5 it receives freshwater inputs from the Raritan and 6 Passaic Rivers. The health and productivity of the 7 New York Bight are affected directly by the quality
8 of the freshwater inputs to the estuary from the 9 Hudson, Passaic, and Raritan Rivers.

10 (5) The Mohawk River and its watershed drain
11 directly into the Hudson River, providing the largest 12 freshwater input to the brackish water mix that 13 characterizes the Hudson River Estuary and sup-
14 ports a biologically rich and productive ecosystem.

15 (6) The Mohawk River is integrated with the 16 Erie Canal along much of its channel, tying the op-
17 eration of the canal system to the health of the Mo-
18 hawk and Hudson Rivers.

19 (7) Individuals in many communities through-
20 out the Hudson-Mohawk River Basin have experi-
21 enced devastating flooding that has led to tremen-
22 dous costs for homeowners, businesses, and State
23 and local governments. A holistic approach to river
24 and stream monitoring, updated floodplain maps,
25 and development of floodplain management strate-

1 gies based upon improved understanding of the 2 Hudson-Mohawk River Basin’s hydrology would
3 make communities safer and more resilient to flood 4 events.

5 (8) Climate change is occurring and, as a re-
6 sult, sea level rise along the United States eastern 7 coastline will increase the vulnerability of coastal 8 communities to storm surge and flooding in the New 9 York-New Jersey harbors and along the major rivers
10 in the Hudson-Mohawk River Basin.

11 (9) Each of the subwatersheds of the Hudson-
12 Mohawk River Basin receives the support of pro-
13 grams administered by Federal, State, regional, and 14 local organizations.

15 (10) New York, New Jersey, Vermont, Massa-
16 chusetts, and Connecticut have a long history of 17 achievements working together on resource manage-
18 ment issues through their memberships in the Dela-
19 ware River Basin Commission, the Susquehanna
20 River Basin Commission, the Appalachian Regional 21 Commission, the New England Interstate Water Pol-
22 lution Control Commission, and the Lake Champlain
23 Basin Program.

24 (11) The impacts experienced as a result of re-
25 cent hurricanes and storms illustrate the need for

1 integrated, basin-wide planning to address water
2 management challenges and vulnerability to flooding.

3 (12) Protecting wetlands, expanding use of 4 green infrastructure, strengthening dams and levees,
5 and upgrading wastewater and water treatment in-
6 frastructure will be necessary to reduce the impacts
7 of extreme weather events and maintain water qual-
8 ity and public health.
