RESOLUTION

Supporting the ideals and goals of the “International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women”.

Whereas November 25, 2015, is recognized as the “International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women”;

Whereas violence against women and girls, particularly intimate partner violence and sexual violence, are major public health issues and violations of human rights;

Whereas recent global prevalence figures indicate that 35 percent of women worldwide have experienced either intimate partner violence or non-partner sexual violence in their lifetime;

Whereas humanitarian response in previous emergencies has shown that gender-based violence (GBV), particularly sexual violence, increases in the immediate aftermath of an emergency, in addition to sexual exploitation and abuse, human trafficking, forced prostitution, and forced marriage, and must therefore be prioritized at the onset of the response;

Whereas on average, 1 in 3 women who have been in a relationship report they have experienced some form of physical, sexual, or other form of violence by their intimate partner;

Whereas 120,000,000 girls worldwide have experienced sexual assault at some point in their lives;

Whereas women and girls are disproportionately impacted by natural disasters and displacement settings exacerbate preexisting inequalities, render women and girls even more vulnerable, and create greater barriers in their ability to benefit from relief, recovery, and long-term reconstruction and development efforts;

Whereas violence against women and girls can result in physical, mental, sexual, reproductive, and other health issues, and may increase vulnerability to HIV;

Whereas more often than not, cases of violence against women and girls goes unreported;

Whereas worldwide, as many as 38 percent of all murders of women are committed by an intimate partner;

Whereas more than 133,000,000 girls and women have experienced some form of female genital mutilation and are at risk for infection (including HIV), infertility, complications during pregnancy, and death;

Whereas women in urban areas are twice as likely as men to experience violence, particularly in developing countries;

Whereas in the United States, 83 percent of girls in grades 8 through 11 (aged 12–16) have experienced some form of sexual harassment in public school;

Whereas in the United States, almost 12 percent of new HIV infections among women more than 20 years old during the previous year were attributed to intimate partner violence;

Whereas in the United States, 1 in 5 women have experienced rape or attempted rape in their lifetime, mostly by a current or former partner;

Whereas women living in households with lower annual household incomes experience intimate partner violence at significantly higher rates than women in households with higher annual household incomes;

Whereas women with disabilities are more likely to experience intimate partner violence and sexual violence than women who are able-bodied;

Whereas transgender women are more likely to experience physical violence and discrimination within intimate partner violence, and more likely to experience intimate partner violence in public spaces;

Whereas 44 percent of lesbian women and 61 percent of bisexual women experience rape, physical violence, or stalking by an intimate partner in their lifetime;

Whereas in the United States alone, the costs of intimate partner violence exceed $5,800,000,000 each year, more than two-thirds of which are health care costs; and

Whereas the people of the United States should be encouraged to support the goals and participate in the “International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women”: Now, therefore, be it

1 Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

2 (1) supports the ideals and goals of the “Inter-
