2 tion 98, 105th Congress, agreed to July 25, 1997,
3 which expressed the sense of the Senate that the 4 United States should not accept any agreement that

6 greenhouse gas emissions by developed countries un-
7 less the agreement also mandated new specific 8 scheduled commitments to limit or reduce green-9 house gas emissions by developing countries within 10 the same compliance period; and

11 (2) the Administrator continues to move for-12 ward with the regulation of carbon dioxide emis-
13 sions, however, the People's Republic of China,
14 India, and the Russian Federation do not impose
15 similar regulations on carbon dioxide emissions.

16 SEC. 3. CARBON DIOXIDE AND OTHER GREENHOUSE GAS
17 EMISSIONS REDUCTIONS IN CHINA, INDIA,
18 AND RUSSIA.

19 Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Ad-
20 ministrator or the head of any other Federal agency or 21 department shall not regulate or continue to implement
22 or enforce any regulations, proposals, or actions estab-
23 lishing any carbon dioxide or greenhouse gas emissions re-
24 ductions until the Administrator, the Administrator of the

1 Energy Information Agency, and the Secretary of Com-
2 merce certify in writing that—

3 (1) the People’s Republic of China, India, and 4 the Russian Federation have proposed, implemented, 5 and enforced measures requiring carbon dioxide and 6 other greenhouse gas emissions reductions; and

7 (2) the reductions described in paragraph (1)
8 are substantially similar to the carbon dioxide and 9 other greenhouse gas emission reductions proposed
10 by the Administrator or the head of any other Fed-
11 eral agency or department for the United States.

12 SEC. 4. REPEAL.

13 Any regulation, proposal, or action in effect before,
14 on, or after the date of enactment of this Act, but before 15 the date on which the certification under section 3 is 16 made, that requires any carbon dioxide or other green-
17 house gas emissions reduction shall have no force or effect.
