Should the State receive title to at least 250,000 acres of public land, enactment of this bill could increase state expenditures for land appraisals and compensation. Estimates for appraisals range from $2,500 for land under one square mile to up to $300,000 for large tracts. A classification change from Division Director to Department Director could result in an increase cost of $10,500 for compensation.

Notes on Notes

Fiscal notes estimate the direct costs or revenues of enacting a bill. The Legislature uses them to balance the budget. They do not measure a bill's benefits or non-fiscal impacts like opportunity costs, wait times, or inconvenience. A fiscal note is not an appropriation. The Legislature decides appropriations separately.
