Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

There is no fiscal impact. Pursuant to RCW 67.70.330, Washington's lottery is a limited authority law enforcement agency as defined in RCW 10.93.020. However, Lottery employees are not authorized by the agency to take suspects into custody or otherwise engage in custodial interrogation.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Section 1 of the bill requires the Criminal Justice Training Commission (CJTC) to develop and administer training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel.

The Gambling Commission conducts custodial interviews on average once a month and will need to ensure agents attend the updated training provided by CJTC. Because CJTC is providing the training free of cost, there is no fiscal impact to the agency.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Section 1 requires the Criminal Justice Training Commission (CJTC) to create, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel. The CJTC is required to make this training available at no cost to all law enforcement personnel and law enforcement agencies in Washington. No fiscal impact to the Office of Insurance Commissioner.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Subject to the availability of amounts appropriated for this specific purpose, the commission shall contract with an expert or organization with expertise in interrogation tactics to develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel.

Any law enforcement agency may contract for or otherwise receive training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques from entities other than or in addition to the commission or the commission's contracted expert or organization, provided that any entity that the law enforcement agency contracts with or otherwise receives such training from must be certified in the techniques described under subsection (2) of this section.

CHANGES MADE BY THE SECOND SUBSTITUTE:

Eliminates all provisions in the bill related to establishing a presumption of inadmissibility for certain confessions made during a custodial interrogation in response to the interrogating officer's use of deception.

Adds a null and void clause, making the bill null and void unless funded in the budget.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

UTC assumes there is no fiscal impact resulting from legislation. The UTC is a limited laws enforcement agency but does not commission employees as peace officers, nor does it enforce criminal laws. Commission employees are not authorized by the agency to take suspects into custody or otherwise engage in custodial interrogation.

The second substitute bill requires the Criminal Justice Training Commission to contract with an expert or organization with expertise in interrogation tactics to develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

UTC assumes no cash receipts will go to UTC as a result of legislation.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

UTC assumes it will not have any expenditures as a result of this legislation.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

The proposed second substitute legislation eliminates the fiscal impacts to the Washington State Patrol (WSP).

The proposed second substitute legislation removes the sections that defined “custodial interrogation” and “deception” as well as the exemptions to these definitions. It also removed the section that would make a statement inadmissible if the court determined that the officer intentionally engaged in deception in obtaining the statement as well as the section that would allow the prosecution to overcome the presumption of inadmissibility if it proves that the person’s statement was voluntary.

New Section 1 requires the CJTC, subject to the availability of funding appropriated for the purpose, to contract with an expert or organization with certain expertise to develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel, and to begin offering the training by July 1, 2025, at no cost to law enforcement personnel or agencies. It also allows any law enforcement agency to contract for or otherwise receive training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques, provided that any entity that the law enforcement agency contracts with or otherwise receives such training from must be certified in the techniques described under subsection(2).

New Section 2 states that if specific funding is not provided by June 30, 2024, this act is null and void.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

NONE

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Once the training in New Section 1 is created by the CJTC, we will evaluate incorporating that into our training plan.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Section 1(1) states subject to the availability of amounts appropriated for this specific purpose, the commission shall contract with an expert or organization with expertise in interrogation tactics to develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel.

Section 1(3) states after development of the training is completed, the commission shall make the training available at no cost to all law enforcement personnel and law enforcement agencies in the state.

Section 1(4) states the commission shall begin offering the training by July 1, 2025.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

This bill has no cash receipt impact.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Estimated expenses to administer, develop, and deliver interrogation techniques training as described in section 1 of this bill include:

Program Manger to manage program and oversee training:

Salary = $129,000

Benefits = $38,000

Administrative Assistant to assist program manager and manage training records:

Salary = $55,000

Benefits = $25,000

One time staff equipment cost in fiscal year 2025 = $10,000

Course development in fiscal year 2025 and updates each year after:

Fiscal year 2025 = $24,000

Fiscal year 2026 and each year after = $2,000

Course expenses per 24-hour class:

Travel = $1,000

Training materials/equipment = $100

Instructors = $4,500

Total per class = $5,600

Class expenses for 8 classes per year = $44,800

Rounded fiscal year totals:

Fiscal year 2025 = $326,000

Fiscal year 2026 and each year after = $293,000

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

There is no fiscal impact to the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS). This bill specifies that the Criminal Justice Training Commission (CJTC) shall contract with an expert or organization with expertise in interrogation tactics to develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel. Any law enforcement agency may contract for or otherwise receive training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques from entities other than or in addition to CJTC. DSHS does not have arrest capabilities and does not conduct interrogations.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

An act relating to the use of deception by law enforcement officers during custodial interrogations; adding a new section to chapter 43.101 RCW; and creating a new section.

1062 2S HB differs from 1062 S HB in the following ways:

Section 1 and Section 2 from 1062 S HB are removed from the bill language thus eliminating all provisions in the bill related to establishing a presumption of inadmissibility for certain confessions made during a custodial interrogation in response to the interrogating officer's use of deception.

Section 1 states that the commission will contract with an expert or organization to develop, administer, and revise a training in evidence-based noncoercive interrogation techniques and law enforcement agencies may contract training with other entities provided that the training meets the provided requirements.

Section 2 adds a null and void clause, making the bill null and void unless funded in the budget by June 30, 2024.

Effective date is assumed 90 days after adjournment of session in which this bill is passed.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

None

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

The fiscal impact of this bill is indeterminate, assumed to be less than $50,000 per Fiscal Year (FY).

Section 1 specifies that the new training program in "evidence-based noncoercive interrogation techniques" will be available at no cost to agencies within the state. However, it is unknown whether this new training program will require attendance in person or online. Depending on the length and required location of said training, there may be additional funding required. Therefore, the fiscal impact is indeterminate assumed to be less than $50,000 per FY.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Second Substitute House Bill 1062 concerns custodial interrogations by law enforcement. Compared with previous versions, the second substitute removes the presumption that statements made during custodial interrogations are inadmissible in court if it is found that a law enforcement officer intentionally engaged in deception to obtain the statement. Meanwhile, Section 1 directs the Criminal Justice Training Commission to contract to develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement agencies and personnel. This training is required to be offered at no costs starting July 1, 2025.

There is no expected fiscal impact to the University of Washington Police Department (UWPD), or the University as a whole, from 2SHB 1062. While UWPD officers may engage in the offered training, they can do so at no cost.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

2S HB 1062 requires the development of law enforcement personnel training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques.

Washington State University expects some costs for travel to attend trainings, but costs are indeterminate until the training locations are known. Overall, WSU expects the impact to be less than $50,000.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Although the training required in Section 3 might be free, if it is offered outside of Pullman, WA, WSU would incur all costs associated with that travel, including hotel, per diem, and mileage. It could also require overtime, either to attend, or for backfill so shifts are fully staffed. If, however, it was offered online and on demand, there would be no cost.

Washington State University expects total annual costs to be less than $50,000, but indeterminate based on uncertainty around training location.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

2SHB 1062 adds a new section to chapter 43.101 RCW and creates a new section, relating to use of deception by LEOs during custodial interrogations. Changes to the current bill include removal of definitions and the presumption of inadmissibility outlined in sections 1 and 2 of the previous substitute. The current bill adds the ability for law enforcement agencies to contract for or otherwise receive training from entities other than the commission provided that the entity is certified in the techniques outlined in subsection 1(2).

EWU does not anticipate that these changes will cause a fiscal impact, therefore we are submitting the same response as previously.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Second Substitute HB 1062 takes out sections 1-2 and 4-5 of Substitute HB 1062 and adds any law enforcement agency can contract for or otherwise receive training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques from entities other than or in addition to the commission, the commission's contracted expert or organization. Also, adds if specific funding for the purposes of this act isn't provided by June 30, 2024, this act will be null and void.

Summary from 1062 Substitute HB:

1062 SHB is the proposed substitute for 1062 HB. 1062 SHB expands the definition of "custodial interrogation" and provides officers exceptions to "deception" tactics. 1062 SHB adds a new section to chapter 43.101 RCW: Dependent upon appropriated amounts the commission will develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel. Also, adds an effective date for the proposed bill of December 1, 2025.

Please see original summary of 1062 HB below:

Section 1: New: Definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise. (1) Defines "custodial interrogation" (2) Defines "deception" (3) Defines "law enforcement officer" (4) Defines "person" (5) Defines "statement".

Section 2: New: (1) A statement made by a person during a custodial interrogation conducted by a law enforcement officer is presumed to be inadmissible if the court determines that the officer intentionally engaged in deception in obtaining the statement and the statement was made in relation to an investigation of a misdemeanor or a felony, or, in the case of a juvenile, an allegation that the person being interrogated committed an act that would constitute a misdemeanor or a felony if committed by an adult (2) Prosecution may overcome the presumption of inadmissibility if it proves by clear and convincing evidence that the person's statement was voluntary.

Section 3: New: Sections 1 and 2 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 10 RCW.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

The current model for interrogation training is determined to be coercive and as such, switching to a non-coercive model will require officer training either by a third party, which the bill allows in section 1(5), or by the commission or its contracted expert/organization.

Because officers will need to be trained immediately upon the passage of this bill, CWU would choose to have officers trained by a third party. For the critical task of interviewing, CWU believes in-person training is the best choice for learning and retention of the material and would choose a third-party in-person training option over a CJTC virtual training option.

The costs identified in this request are a third-party per-person training cost and the per-diem rates for the Seattle area. If the legislature intends to ensure all officers comply with the law upon being signed, then CWU would need to engage with a third-party trainer to ensure adequate training outcomes for our officers, which would cost an estimated total of $22,862 for 14 officers.

3rd party, in-person, and intensive training:

Tuition to 3rd Party Training = $700/officer x 14 Officers = $9,800

Per Diem rate for Seattle area for a 3-day course = $79/day for food and $232/day for hotel= $933/officer x 14 officers = $13,062

Total cost for 14 officers 3-day course in Seattle area = $22,862

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

2S HB 1062 relates to the use of deception by law enforcement officers during custodial interrogations.

The definitions in section 1 of the previous version of the bill have been deleted.

The statement in section 2 related to the admissibility of statements made in response to deception during custodial interrogations has been deleted.

Section 1(5) includes a new provision that a law enforcement agency may contract for or otherwise receive training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques from other than the commission or the commission's experts if the provider of the training is certified in the techniques identified in section 1(2)(a-d).

As the training described in section 1(5) could still be obtained from the Criminal Justice Training Commission at no cost, there is no fiscal impact to the college from this latest version of the bill.

S HB 1062 relates to the use of deception by law enforcement officers during custodial interrogations.

New section 3 adds a requirement for the Criminal Justice Training Commission.

The revised bill creates no additional requirements for the college so the assessment of no fiscal impact is not changed.

HB 1062 relates to the use of deception by law enforcement officers during custodial interrogations.

Section 1 defines "custodial interrogation," "deception," "law enforcement officer," "person" and "statement."

Section 2 states that a statement made by a person which has been obtained via deception during a custodial interrogation is presumed to be inadmissible. The prosecution may overcome the presumption if it proves that the statement was made voluntarily and not as a result of deception.

If this bill becomes law, the college's police officers will be trained to the new standard using existing resources. There is no fiscal impact on the college.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Agency expenditures necessary to implement this legislation (or savings resulting from this legislation), with the provisions of the legislation that result in the expenditures (or savings) identified by section number. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the expenditure impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into cost estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

The amended language mandates the State Criminal Justice System develop training and make it no cost to all law enforcement agencies.

The updated bill adds no fiscal impact on our institution.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

This second substitute bill adds a new section to chapter 43.101 and provides an expiration date for the legislation if funding is not obtained.

If enacted, this second substitute bill would have no fiscal impact on State Parks. The agency's law enforcement officers do not participate in custodial interrogations and would not be impacted by this legislation.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

Differences between 1062 SHB and 1062 2SHB:

Section 1 changes language from 'evidence' to 'true evidence'.

Sections 3, 4 and 5 have been removed from the substitute house bill.

New Section 2 removes the presumption that statements made during custodial interrogation will be inadmissible if deception was used by law enforcement to obtain the statement.

New Description:

Section 1 requires the commission to contract with an expert in interrogation techniques and to provided updated training for all enforcement personnel.

Section 2 voids act if funding is not provided by June 30, 2024.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Description of the factual basis of the assumptions and the method by which the cash receipts impact is derived. Explanation of how workload assumptions translate into estimates. Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

II. C - Expenditures

Distinguished between one time and ongoing functions.

The fiscal impact to the Department is indeterminant. Section 1 directs the Criminal Justice Training Center (CJTC) to create updated evidence-based interrogation technique training. The training is to be provided to enforcement agencies at no cost from CJTC. If the training is offered virtually, there will be no cost to the Department. If trainings are provided in person there may be some travel costs for the Department associated with attending the various CJTC courses offered throughout the fiscal year.

Part II: Narrative Explanation

II. A - Brief Description Of What The Measure Does That Has Fiscal Impact

Significant provisions of the bill and any related workload or policy assumptions that have revenue or expenditure impact on the responding agency by section number.

This new substitute bill removes all of the original bill's language and replaces it with a mandate for the Washington Criminal Justice Training Commission (CJTC) to contract with experts in interrogation techniques and develop training for all Washington Law Enforcement Officers. This bill, if enacted, would allow for the CJTC to provide a training course in interrogation techniques to law enforcement. DNR officers would take this course if offered by CJTC. This would be accomplished during normal training sessions, and therefore will have no fiscal impact.

II. B - Cash receipts Impact

Cash receipts impact of the legislation on the responding agency with the cash receipts provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of the revenue sources. Part IV: Analysis

A. SUMMARY OF BILL

Description of the bill with an emphasis on how it impacts local government.

CHANGES BETWEEN THIS VERSION AND PRIOR VERSION OF THE BILL:

The second substitute requires the Criminal Justice Training Commission to contract with an expert or organization with expertise in interrogation tactics to develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel. It omits the provisions in the previous version that made statements inadmissible as evidence if an officer intentionally engaged in deception. These changes remove the fiscal impact for local governments.

SUMMARY OF BILL:

Sec. 1 adds a new section to RCW 43.101. Subject to the availability of amounts appropriated, the Criminal Justice Training Commission (CJTC) shall contract with an expert or organization with expertise in interrogation tactics to develop, administer, and periodically revise a training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques for law enforcement personnel. After development of the training is completed, the CJTC shall make the training available at no cost to all law enforcement personnel and law enforcement agencies in the state.

The CJTC shall begin offering the training by July 1, 2025. Any law enforcement agency may contract for or otherwise receive training in evidence-based, noncoercive interrogation techniques from entities other than or in addition to the CJTC or the CJTC's contracted expert or organization, provided that any entity that the law enforcement agency contracts with or otherwise receives such training from must be certified in the techniques described under subsection (2) of this section.

B. SUMMARY OF EXPENDITURE IMPACTS

Expenditure impacts of the legislation on local governments with the expenditure provisions identified by section number and when appropriate, the detail of expenditures. Delineated between city, county and special district impacts.

The legislation would have no expenditure impacts for local government.

C. SUMMARY OF REVENUE IMPACTS

Revenue impacts of the legislation on local governments, with the revenue provisions identified by section number, and when appropriate, the detail of revenue sources. Delineated between city, county and special district impacts.

This bill would have no impact on local government revenues.
