1 WHEREAS, January has been recognized as National Stalking
2 Awareness Month by the Stalking Prevention, Awareness, and Resource
3 Center, established by a grant funded by the United States Department
4 of Justice; and

5 WHEREAS, This body reaffirms the inherent right of every human 6 being to live in peace without the fear of being stalked, harassed, 7 and violated; and

8 WHEREAS, We recognize stalking as a deeply traumatic 9 victimization in its own right and often intersects with sexual 10 violence, physical violence, and even homicide; and

11 WHEREAS, According to the National Intimate Partner and Sexual 12 Violence Survey, one in three women and one in six men have been 13 stalked at some point in their lives; and

14 WHEREAS, According to the National Coalition Against Domestic 15 Violence, 76 percent of women murdered by an intimate partner were 16 stalked first, while 85 percent of women who survived murder attempts 17 were stalked; and

18 WHEREAS, 54 percent of femicide victims reported stalking to the 19 police before they were killed by their stalkers and one in seven 20 stalking victims has been forced to move because of their 21 victimization; and

22 WHEREAS, According to the United States Department of Justice
23 report "Socio-emotional Impact of Violent Crime," victims often face

1 nonphysical challenges, such as the possibility of trauma and 2 posttraumatic stress or socio-emotional problems, affecting 3 their ability to trust or function day to day; and

4 WHEREAS, According to the Centers for Disease Control and 5 Prevention, stalking is a public health problem that affects 6 millions of people in the United States; and

7 WHEREAS, The impact of all crime often affects more than 8 just the direct victims, devastating thousands of these victims'
9 families and friends across Washington as well; and

10 WHEREAS, The Washington State Senate recognize the 11 importance of honoring victims regardless of the manner, size,
12 or type of crime committed against them because of the adversity
13 they face and the resilience they exemplify;

14 NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Senate recognize 15 the plight of those affected and victimized by the crime of 16 stalking and further resolve to stand with the victims who have 17 been brave enough to tell their stories, those who are no longer 18 alive to do so, and those who might gain the courage to do so in 19 the future.
