Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a bed and breakfast establishment must be licensed to operate in Wisconsin. A bed and breakfast establishment is defined, in part, as a place of lodging that has eight or fewer rooms for rent, is the owner's personal residence, provides no meals other than breakfast, and provides breakfast only to guests. A bed and breakfast is not required to have a restaurant license to prepare and serve breakfast to its guests.

This bill provides that a bed and breakfast may serve any meal to its guests and is not required to have a restaurant license to prepare and serve the meals to its guests.
