Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

The bill increases the maximum penalties for persons who fail to operate and maintain gas production, transmission, and distribution facilities in a reasonably adequate and safe manner. Current law requires gas production, transmission, and distribution facilities to be operated and maintained in a reasonably adequate and safe manner and authorizes the PSC to issue orders and rules to promote safety of those facilities. Under current law, a person who violates one of these PSC orders or rules or fails to operate and maintain gas production, transmission, and distribution facilities in a reasonably adequate and safe manner is subject to a forfeiture of up to $25,000 per day and a total forfeiture of up to $500,000 for a single persisting violation. Under the bill, a violator is subject to a forfeiture of up to the maximum applicable penalty for such violations under federal regulations promulgated by the U.S. Department of Transportation. Currently, those federal regulations provide a maximum forfeiture of up to $257,664 per day and a total forfeiture of up to $2,576,627 for a related series of violations.
