JOINT LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL PREFATORY NOTE: This bill was prepared for the Joint Legislative Council's Special Committee on Emergency Management and Continuity of Government.

Under current levy limit statutes, which apply to the property tax levies that are imposed in December 2007 and 2008, a political subdivision (defined as a city, village, town, or county) may not increase its levy by a percentage that exceeds either the political subdivision's valuation factor, as calculated under current law, or a percentage specified in the statutes. Various exceptions are provided in current law to the requirement that political subdivisions not increase their levy by more than the specified percentage. This bill creates an additional exception, under which the levy limit does not apply to the amount that a political subdivision levies to pay the unreimbursed expenses related to an emergency declared by the governor, although currently no levy limits apply to a political subdivision’s levy that is imposed after December 2008. The bill also specifies that the amount excluded for this purpose may not be added to a political subdivision’s base levy after the unreimbursed expenses have been recovered.

Under the current expenditure restraint program, certain municipalities qualify for payments from the state if their municipal budget does not exceed the municipal budget for the previous year by more than the sum of an inflation factor and a valuation factor, calculated as specified in current law. In determining the budget for the current year and the previous year, certain costs are excluded. This bill creates an additional exclusion for unreimbursed expenses related to an emergency declared by the governor.

3 increase its levy in 2007 by a percentage that exceeds the political subdivision’s
4 valuation factor or 3.86. The base amount in any year, to which the limit under this
5 section applies, may not include any amount to which sub. (3) (e) 8. applies.

9 (b) 1., including any amounts levied in that year to replenish cash reserves that were
