

FISCAL NOTE

The fiscal impact is indeterminable.

The Department of Workforce Services (Department) anticipates this bill would decrease revenues to the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund and Employment Support Fund and to the Federal Fund from the Unemployment Insurance Administrative Grant. This bill would also decrease expenditures from the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund.

The Department indicates that the decrease in revenue to the Unemployment Insurance Trust would be in the form of reduced tax rates for employers which are paid into Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund as a result of decreased demands on the fund to pay benefits. The decrease in revenue from federal funds is based on the Resource Justification Model, which includes factors such as the number of claims received and processed in a year, number of appeals, and number of issues adjudicated, which will all likely be reduced. Tax rates for employers are set in December of each year and implemented in January. Part of that determination includes recent demand on the fund based on the amount of benefits paid. The demand on the fund is unknown as the number of claimants receiving benefits and the maximum weeks of benefits based on the state's average unemployment rate are unknown.

The Department indicates the source of the expenditure decrease to the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund is a result of this bill reducing the maximum amount of benefits payable to any eligible individual in a benefit year from 26 to 13 weeks or 30 percent of wages payable for insured work in their base period, whichever is less. The bill also reduces the total extended benefit amount for the applicable benefit year from 13 to 6.5 times the weekly benefit amount or 50 percent of the total amount of regular benefits, whichever is less.

The Department indicated that in fiscal year 2019, the total number of claimants receiving benefits was 12,035, with 2,941 of those claimants receiving benefits for more than 13 weeks and 269 of those receiving the maximum weekly benefit amount. The amount of benefits received is unique to each claimant and has varied greatly in recent years due to multiple economic anomalies. Currently, the maximum weekly benefit amount is $560.
